Nippon Pushes China Invasion To Ichang Port

By ROBERT BELLAIRE

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Bulletin

SHANGHAI, Nov. 4.—The Japanese pushed their invasion of China on several fronts today, determined to reinforce the veiled declaration in favor of peace made in this week's statement of policy toward China by the Imperial government in Tokyo with additional military blows designed to "crush" Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

In the Hankow area Japanese columns which spread fanwise to the southwest and northeast after capture of the former Chinese national capital last week were pressing towards Changsha, capital of Hunan province, and the strong Chinese positions around Kingshan in Hupeh province northwest of Hankow.

Japanese warships had advanced more than 30 miles up the Yangtse river from Hankow in the drive on the port of Ichang.

On the south China front Japanese bombing planes were clearing a path for occupation of Wuchow. Operations in Kwangtung province were described by a Japanese spokesman as "satisfactory."

In the northern district the Japanese still were battering at Chinese positions on the western Lung-Hai railway.

ROOSEVELT TO ASK SUPPORT FOR PROGRAM

President To Make Only Speech Of Election Campaign Tonight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt will make his only speech of the United States general election campaign tonight just two years after he won the greatest vote victory in the country's history.

Just as in 1936 he called for popular support for his policies, so tonight he will have opportunity to ask the voters to stand back of his program.

EXAMINE RESULTS

Although this is not a year when the presidency is contested, the results of next Tuesday's balloting will be examined closely by both Republicans and Democrats for indications of the country's attitude toward the administration.

In some states Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal is a clear-cut issue. In others local problems have created cross-currents. In virtually all,

BALLOT BOXES ARE FLOWN BY CITY AIRMAN

Grant McConachie Takes Off Friday With North Vote Material

With Grant McConachie, intrepid northern pilot at the controls, a United Air Transport plane took off from the Edmonton airport at 8:45 a.m. on Friday and winged its way through wind and snow for the open spaces of the Athabasca constituency, in a gallant last-minute drive to carry ballot boxes through to the voters of Fort Chipewyan and Fort Fitzgerald, so that they can vote in the Athabasca by-election of Monday next.

Baffled for 10 days by smoke, fog and snow, authorities on Thursday all but gave up hope of getting the boxes through. Free Lance Commercial Pilot J. Irwin of Calling River, who had guaranteed to fly the boxes in, was reported snow-bound and could not make the trip.

London Says Flier Will Stay

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—Colonel Charles Lindbergh was described by close friends Thursday as considering termination of his voluntary European exile.

They said the flier was resolved to retain his United States citizenship and that at no time, since he decided to leave the United States three years ago, had he abandoned hope his stay abroad would be other than temporary.

In proof of this contention, they pointed to the care with which he saw to it that his youngest son, Land Morrow Lindbergh, was registered as an United States citizen.

The baby was born May 12, 1937, in a London nursing home. Within a few days, the Colonel appeared at the United States embassy to register the birth, thereby preventing any claim of British sovereignty over the boy.

It was in search of privacy, as a shield from cranks, following years in the public eye, that the Lindberghs sailed for England December 23, 1935.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The West End and Soho Weekly said today that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is about to take out British citizenship for himself and family, and accept a high civil aviation post in England.

"From sources of the highest authority, the West End Weekly is able to reveal that Col. Lindbergh, internationally famous airman who has been a resident of England for several years, will shortly be given a high position in or connected with the British government.

"Our correspondent also informs us it is predicted that Col. Lindbergh and his family will also become British subjects by naturalization in the near future.

"The position which will be offered is one similar to director of civil aviation. There may also be an unofficial connection with the reorganization of the Royal Air Force."

Well-informed sources in London and in Berlin, which Lindbergh visited recently, derided the story.

Candidates Launch 1939 Civic Campaign

Halt Called On Capital Outlay Says Mayor Fry

Good Hearing Given Speakers At Two Meetings Thursday—Clarke Charges Current Election Most Brazen Ever Pulled

"The ease with which we have been able to borrow money in the early days of its administration had brought Edmonton near to bankruptcy and as long as I have any voice in the affairs of the city I am determined that civic improvements must be carried out on a pay-as-you-go basis, excepting where increased revenues will justify capital expenditures," declared Mayor J. W. Fry addressing meetings at Calder and King Edward schools Thursday evening.

Mayor Fry is seeking a second year of office on a record which, he said, gave a year of steady progress, with building permits showing an increase of $2,000,000 over last year, land sales the largest since 1929, tax collections increasing, and bank overdraft decreasing.

He appealed to the electors to extend him the usual consideration shown in past years to the mayor of the city of a second term to complete the work begun by him in his first year of office.

CONFIDENCE RESTORED

He pointed out that 1938 had been a year in which confidence and optimism were restored in this city, in which the city's business was conducted without the turmoil and shoutings of previous years and in a spirit of courtesy and fair play.

Good hearings, without interruptions, were accorded candidates by the 70 persons who attended the King Edward school and Calder meetings, which opened the civic campaign Thursday night. Two speakers were questioned after their addresses at King Edward school, but the only disturbing note in an

3 Edmonton Men Held In East On Narcotics Charge: Under Big Bail

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 4.—Luigi and Daniel Gasparini and Gilbert Haggerty, who reported they were from Edmonton, appeared in court today charged with possession under the Narcotics Act. They were arrested last night by a Royal Canadian Mounted Police raiding squad.

Officers claim they found 200 capsules of heroin secreted in cigarette packages found on the accused.

Bail of $25,000 each was asked for the Gasparinis and $10,000 for Haggerty. Magistrate H. A. Burbidge later reduced the Gasparini's bail to $8,000 each and set trial for November 15.

Robertson Sutherland, chief of detectives in Edmonton, said Friday that he had "no distinct recollection" of the names of any of the three men arrested in Hamilton.

"If I could see their pictures I would know if they had ever been in trouble with the police here, but names don't mean a thing in this business," he pointed out. "It is probable that all three of them gave fictitious names and addresses when arrested. Positive identification will be impossible until fingerprints have been taken and compared with records at Ottawa."

Search of police files here failed to reveal anything on the records containing the names mentioned in the dispatch.

PRIVY COUNCIL GIVES RULING ALBERTA ACTS

Reasons For Dismissal Of Bank Taxation Appeal Revealed

By EDWIN JOHNSON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 4—Finish was written by the privy council tonight to Alberta's constitutional appeals involving bank taxation, credit regulation, and press control. The appeals were heard last July.

Of the three submissions only the bank taxation appeal was heard by the judicial committee. It was rejected in an oral judgment July 14. Their lordships declined to hear arguments on the other two on the grounds they were inoperative and of no practical interest.

WRITTEN JUDGMENT

In a written judgment released tonight Lord Maugham, the Lord Chancellor, giving reasons for dismissal of the taxation reference declares there is no escape from the conclusion that instead of being in any true sense taxation to raise revenue for provision purposes the bill is merely:

"Part of a legislative plan to prevent operation within the province of those banking institutions which have been called into existence and given the necessary powers to conduct their business by the only proper authority — the parliament of Canada."

This, their lordships contend, was sufficient ground for holding the bill ultra vires.

BOTH ANCILLARY

Explaining the reasons for declining to hear arguments on the credit and press bills, their lordships point out both were ancillary to the Alberta Social Credit Act, repealed in April, 1936, adding:

"It is contrary to the long established practice of this board to entertain appeals which have no relation to existing rights created or purported to be created. They have, therefore, found it necessary to decline to hear arguments on this appeal so far as it relates to the bills known as number eight and nine. Their lordships in taking this course will only add that they do not intend to intimate any doubt as to the correctness of the decision of the supreme court (of Canada) as regard those bills."

The Bank Tax Bill provided for an annual levy of one half of one per cent of the paid up capital of the chartered banks and a tax of one per cent on the reserve fund of undivided profits. The tax would be on the whole capital of bank, whether in the province or not.

The Credit Bill would have licensed institutions dealing in credit and put them under the supervision of local boards dominated by appointees of the Social Credit Board. The Press Bill would have compelled Alberta newspapers to print corrective or amplifying statements on government policies at the direction of the chairman of the Social Credit Board.

$150,000 PLAN IS CONSIDERED AT UNIVERSITY

Students' Union Building Planned—25-Year Loan Mooted

Hoping to overcome lack of facilities, University students are drafting plans for a $150,000 Students' Union building to be built and financed by the student body, possessing complete swimming and gymnasium accommodation along with a large auditorium, cafeteria and Students' Union offices.

The building, to be centrally located on the campus, will embody a large swimming pool, shower, locker and strip rooms, a modern cafeteria, an auditorium with adequate stage accommodation and gallery. The auditorium will be convertible for basketball, or badminton courts.

Tentative plans for financing the building would involve the use of a building fund already established and borrowing the balance required, the loan to be retired over 25 years. It is computed that university students would contribute approximately $7 each term during that period, and summer school students $2.

The building will be approximately 200 feet by 80 feet, with the swimming pool and cafeteria located in the basement and the auditorium and Students' Union offices on the first floor.

Before definite plans can be made, students will hold a plebicite, two thirds of the voters being required to consent.

Several years ago, students built the covered rink, under the same plan, costing $15,000.

The loan for that building was retired in eight years, two years before schedule, on an assessment of $3 from every student. It now pays a small annual operating profit.

14 KILLED IN CRASH OF BIG BRITISH PLANE

Fully - Loaded Passenger Airliner Falls Into Field Friday

ST. HELIER, Island of Jersey, Nov. 4—Fourteen persons were killed today in one of Great Britain's worst airplane disasters when a fully-loaded passenger airliner crashed in a field just after taking off for Southampton, England.

LAWYER FILES COURT ORDER TO BAR STEP

Seeks To Prohibit Proceedings Against Man Convicted By Cadi

Order prohibiting Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., from sentencing A. Bruteyn upon a conviction by former Magistrate A. H. Gibson, K.C., was sought by Gordon E. Winkler, counsel for Bruteyn, by way of notice of motion in supreme court. The notice of motion was filed late Friday afternoon and is returnable in supreme court chambers on December 1 next.

Mr. Bruleyn was found guilty by former Magistrate Gibson on August 5 last on a charge of being unlawfully in care or control of an automobile while intoxicated. He was remanded to November 5 for sentence.

NO JURISDICTION

The prohibition order is being sought on the grounds that Magistrate Millar has no jurisdiction to impose sentence under the conviction made by former Magistrate Gibson.

It is also set forth as a ground that former Magistrate Gibson having been seized of this case and having entered the conviction against Bruteyn has not waived jurisdiction in favor of Magistrate Millar, or any other magistrate.

AFFIDAVIT

Also supporting the application is the affidavit of Mr. Winkler setting out the facts in the case, and also that Magistrate Millar had intimated it was his intention to proceed upon the conviction and impose sentence Saturday on Bruteyn.

In view of the filing of the application for the prohibition order it is anticipated that Magistrate Millar on Saturday will adjourn dealing further with the case until the application before the supreme court has been disposed of.

Proposed Amalgamation of Grain Organizations Fails to Materialize

U.G.G. VOTES TO CONTINUE PRESENT PLAN

Difficulties Retarding Union of Prairie Organizations Outlined

CALGARY, Nov. 4—Difficulties in the way of amalgamation of the United Grain Growers' association with western wheat pools in to what Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba, has described as "A united co-operative front," were explained to delegates at the closing session of the annual meeting of the U. G. G. here Thursday.

A project long under examination by western grain handling co-operatives, it will continue to be the subject of inquiry it was indicated in the U.G.G. directors' report presented and adopted.

NOT INSURMOUNTABLE

The report added that the difficulties "Cannot be considered insurmountable."

A resolution was adopted urging continuance of the Canadian wheat board providing there was acceptance of "All grain at all times regardless of market price."

The report of the directors warned against any attempts to make personal, commercial or political capital out of the board or any tendency on the part of a person, a party or institution to claim credit for its existence.

"Any such attempts will imperil the future operations and the very existence of the board," added the report.

ANTICIPATE RELIEF

Protest against methods of debt collection placed on country grain agents by government and private creditors was voiced in a resolution adopted.

The delegates were informed that "there are very good grounds for hoping that western legislatures may give some relief in this respect."

The directors' report, dealing with amalgamation, dealt only with the situation in Alberta and Manitoba. The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool was not mentioned.

BOTH WOULD BENEFIT

"Some considerable administrative economies would result from either of the amalgamations suggested," said the report. "On the other hand, an amalgamated company might not do as much business as the total now done by the two organizations. Losses on this account would consequently, to some extent at least, offset advantages otherwise accruing."

It was also declared that definite proposals for amalgamation in either Alberta or Manitoba might be "opposed by a considerable number of shareholders, members and customers of each organization."

Rosenblum said they confessed to kidnapping Norman Miller, 19 Benjamin Farber, Brooklyn businessman, and Fried, who disappeared last Dec. 4.

Mysterious Disease Fatal To Many Eskimos Found Being Just Plain Mumps

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—A mysterious disease which brought swift death to Eskimos of South Baffin Island, particularly in the district around Lake Harbor on Hudson Strait, has been diagnosed by government physicians as mumps.

Radio and mailed instructions for treatment of the disease are being sent by the department of resources to Hudson's Bay Company and Royal Canadian Mounted Police posts in an effort to halt crude native treatment which, with low Eskimo resistance, caused 70 deaths in a population of 1,000 in five years.

For years the Northwest Territories branch of the department has worried about mysterious deaths around Lake Harbor. Natives were afflicted with glandular trouble and before any Mountie, much less a doctor, could reach them they were dead.

Because descriptions by natives were meagre and often contradictory, doctors down in civilization came to a variety of conclusions about the disease. One suggestion was that it was plomaine poisoning from eating decomposed meat.

However, the fact most of the victims were under 20 years and other information gathered recently prompted government physicians to the conclusion most of the deaths were caused by mumps.

This year when the eastern Arctic patrol on the R.M.S. Nascopie stopped at Lake Harbor, 36 natives were taken on board for Port Ross on Prince Regent Sound, far to the north. On board the boat two of the children developed mumps.

Dr. K. F. Rogers was the medical officer of the patrol and it was the first time any experienced physician had an opportunity to study progress of the disease among natives from its inception until they were cured. When Dr. Rogers returned to Ottawa and was able to go through the departmental records he came to the conclusion mumps caused many deaths in previous years.

PLANE CRASHES MAIN STREET OF B.C. TOWN

Pilot Injured, Passenger Unhurt, In Fraser Valley Mishap

CHILLIWACK, B.C., Nov. 4.—Eric Eversfield was injured when the small monoplane he was piloting crashed on the main street of this Fraser Valley town late Thursday. Lewis Marriot, a passenger with Eversfield, received only minor bruises and did not require hospital attention.

Eversfield was taken to Chilliwack hospital where attendants said he was suffering from concussion and had "a good chance" for recovery.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to develop engine trouble over the town and the pilot presumably made an attempt to glide to a landing on the main street.

The machine cleared high tension wires but the under-carriage tripped on telephone wires across the street and pancaked on top of a gasoline station pump with the nose of the plane tilting to the ground.

Bystanders pulled the two men from the plane.

Ballot Boxes

mercial companies had either made strenuous efforts to get the boxes through and were baffled by fog and smoke, or else they would not attempt the hazardous trip.

On Thursday night Grant McConachie contacted R. A. Andison, chief electoral officer and said he had evolved a plan for getting the boxes through.

He planned to take off from here on a plane with wheels and fly to Peace River, where another plane would be warmed up and equipped with skis. The boxes would be changed there and the ski-equipped plane would fly them from Peace River to Chipewyan and Fitzgerald.

The boxes were at Athabasca and had to be brought back here, which was done overnight.

Making a splendid take-off at the airport, the intrepid McConachie got away and pointed north into the snow and wind.

He expected to get to Peace River by 11 a.m. and have the whole job completed by early afternoon.

There are 150 voters at Chipewyan and 50 at Fitzgerald.

Roosevelt

however, every vote cast will help shape the course of national policies for the next two years.

Since Mr. Roosevelt's victory two years ago, there have been political and economic developments which have provided new issues in many senatorial and congressional races.

Republicans have made capital of the decline in business which began in the late summer of 1937, of labor disturbances and of lowered farm prices. Democratic party strife and defeat of the president on such major legislative issues as the supreme court and executive reorganization bills has furnished other material for the opposition orators.

Administration supporters, on the other hand, have directed the voters' attention to reports of reviving business and declining unemployment during recent months. They have cited social legislation such as the wage-hour law as evidence that the administration is reaching its objectives.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech tonight will be his only formal participation on a national scale in the campaign. The speech will be broadcast.

treaty signed at Washington in 1922, with a new three-power pact among Japan, her puppet-empire of Manchukuo and a new regime in China, envisioning displacement of the Chiang Kai-Shek government.

Such a new pact ostensibly would be to guarantee China's territorial integrity after cessation of the present Japanese-Chinese war.

"Japan considers the nine-power pact obsolete. Whether we will denounce it or withdraw has not yet been decided," the spokesman said. "The government is examining the advantages of creation of a tri-power pact."

JAPAN DOMINATES

Earlier Premier Fumimaro Konoye's announcement of a "new order in East Asia" in which Japan is to have the dominating role was believed to foreshadow a demand for revision of the treaty.

The spokesman hinted Japan might make a definite statement on this line when she replies to a United States note protesting against what Washington termed interference with American interests in China. When a reply could be expected was not known.

In a broadcast, the Premier asserted the new order "has for its foundation a tri-partite relationship of mutual aid and co-ordination between Japan, Manchukuo and China in political, economic cultural and other fields. Its object is to secure international justice."

The nine-power treaty, signed at the Washington conference in 1922, guaranteed the territorial integrity and independence of China and reiterated the principle of the "open door" in China. Subsequently a number of other countries with Pacific Ocean interests, including Canada, subscribed to it

War Settlement Must Satisfy Nations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — The United States state department made public Thursday a reminder that last year's nine-power treaty conference had served notice the final settlement of the Sino-Japanese war must be "satisfactory to the conference powers."

This reminder was a hitherto unpublished memorandum from Norman H. Davis, United States former "ambassador-at-large", to State Secretary Hull.

Dated last Dec. 16, it listed results of the conference which met at Brussels one year ago in an unsuccessful effort to end hostilities in the Orient. One of those results, Davis said, included express serving of notice that the settlement ultimately arrived at must be consistent with the principles of the nine-power treaty and satisfactory to the conference powers.

China Resents Japan's Program

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 4—Japan's announced intention of bringing China into an economic and political bloc for the domination of east Asia today brought angry retorts from General Chiang Kai-Shek's government that China would continue resistance until Japan abandons her policy of aggression and encroachment.

Members of the people's political council, now in session in China's newest provisional capital, said there was no hope of respective compromise with Japan at present.

Chinese Report Victories In Southern China

SHANGHAI, Nov. 4.—Chinese forces reported today they had inflicted 1,500 Japanese casualties in desperate battles in the Tungshan mountains south of Hankow.

Severe fighting also was in progress at the south end of the Canton railway near Samshui.

A dispatch from Hong Kong said 11 Kwangsi province divisions, totalling nearly 200,000 fully equipped troops, were reported by Chinese to be advancing toward Samshi, 25 miles west of Canton, in a general counter-offensive against the Japanese along the west river.

RUSH ON FOR SUDETENLAND MERCHANDISE

U.S. Buyers After Goods Before Higher Tariffs Prevail

BERLIN, Nov. 4. — American buyers are rushing to get goods out of Sudetenland before the territory is placed under the higher tariffs the United States levies on German-made goods.

(In Washington officials said higher tariffs would not apply to Sudetenland until final boundaries between the expanded Germany and Czechoslovakia are drawn, possibly in two or three months.)

Some Sudeten industries worked almost entirely for the American market.

A low-valued Czechoslovak crown and lower American tariffs favored Sudetens as long as they were part of Czechoslovakia. But as soon as the United States government classifies Sudetenland as a part of Germany the advantages will stop.

3 PARKS SEEK SECESSION FROM LOCAL CONTROL

WATERTON, Alta., Nov. 4.—A meeting of Waterton residents to discuss "secession" of Waterton, Jasper and Banff National Parks from the province of Alberta has been called for an early date here.

The meeting originally was scheduled for tonight but has been postponed.

Under the secession plan, the three parks would be taken out of the province and placed wholly under Federal control. Residents of the parks claim certain taxation, licensing and other restrictions and regulations imposed by the provincial government are detrimental to development of the parks.

The movement has been discussed previously, both at Banff and Jasper.

BEACON LIGHT FOR AIRSHIPS SEEN 25 MILES

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—A great light beacon, with 750,000 candlepower beam flooded across the sky last night from Malton airport, an aerial guide for night flying airmen that can be seen from a distance of 25 miles.

At the same time the big light flooded the darkened sky, the lighting equipment of the airport was given its initial test. Electrical engineers of the Toronto Harbor Commission, who have been busy for the past weeks installing the system, expressed themselves as quite satisfied with the test and intimated that the port is now ready for the projected night flights on airmail schedules of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The lighting equipment at Malton airport is controlled from a central station situated well out in the field and a considerable distance from the renovated farm house which serves the temporary capacity of an administration building. Within the control station is a complete switchboard apparatus which governs the lighting of the various runways and the beacon tower.

Spotted along each runway are 32 "contact" lights outlining the landing space. Forty-four boundary lights completely circle the outer fringe of the entire field.

DETROIT, Nov. 4—Violet and Daisy Hilton, Siamese twins, want to know whether they should get one or two pensions under the Social Security Act when they reach 65 and become eligible for a pension. The sisters propounded their question to social security officials here. Detroit officials forwarded the problem to Washington.

TORONTO BOY TRIPLETS GET MOVIE OFFER

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Philip Latchman Thursday revealed she had rejected a moving-picture offer for her five-year-old triplet sons—Donald, Marvin and Victor.

"We received an invitation to bring the boys to Hollywood," said the mother of almost-identical brothers. "I can't tell you who made the offer, but he's well known in the movie business. But the boys are too young yet—maybe a little later."

KING'S SPEECH HOPES NEW ERA IS NOW OPENED

British Parliament Adjourns Until Tuesday After Short Ceremony

By J. F. SANDERSON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 4—The King's speech at the prorogation of parliament today expressed the hope "a new era may have been opened for Europe" as a result of the settlement of the September crisis.

The speech, read by proxy in the House of Lords, gave credit to Premier Mussolini, President Roosevelt, Viscount Runciman and Prime Minister Chamberlain for their parts in arranging a peaceful settlement.

After a short ceremony, parliament adjourned until Tuesday when the King will open the next session in person.

For the most part the speech was a review of the legislation passed at the session which was almost a year old. In reference to the recent threat of war it said "the desire of all peoples not to be drawn into war with one another is manifest and significant, and everywhere men and women share with me, I am convinced, a feeling of deep thankfulness that the imminent peril was thus averted."

DIGNITY LAUDED

It lauded the "dignity" with which Czechoslovakia accepted her fate, the "valuable support" given Prime Minister Chamberlain by Premier Mussolini of Italy in connection with the proposal for a four-power conference, and the "timely action" of President Roosevelt in "powerfully aiding" the cause of peace. It bespoke pride in the "calmness and determination displayed by all my people.

It said the government was confident the Anglo-Italian agreement soon to be put into effect would "further strengthen the good relations already existing between Italy and this country." Reduction of the number of foreigners fighting in Spain on either side was noted.

As the session ended the government, frankly admitting serious deficiencies in the rearmament and civilian defence programs, embarked on a new effort to repair the faults.

France Telephones Italy Acceptance Of Ambassador

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet directed his aides today to inform the Italian government by telephone rather than through the usual diplomatic channels that Raffaelo Guariglia would be acceptable to the French government as the new ambassador from Rome. Officials indicated Bonnet was anxious to facilitate negotiations for an agreement with Italy.

ALBERTA GETS $500,000 LOAN FROM OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—The Dominion government has approved works program loans totalling $2,400,000 under the Municipal Improvement Assistance Act, passed at the session of parliament, it was learned Thursday. Requests for additional loans totalling nearly $1,000,000 are still being considered.

The approved loan total includes $1,340,000 for British Columbia municipalities, $500,000 for Alberta, $300,000 for Saskatchewan and $200,000 for New Brunswick. There are none so far for the other provinces.

The act appropriated up to $30,000,000 for loans to municipalities at two per cent interest for self-liquidating projects, the loans to be approved and guaranteed by the provinces where the municipalities are located.

ALMOST CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM

Improved Greatly When He Tried Kruschen

There has just come to our notice a case of grand relief from severe rheumatic pains. The seriousness of the man's condition and the step that led to his ultimate recovery, are described in the following letter:

"For several years I suffered from rheumatism. I had all my teeth out, and still suffered. A year ago I lay in hospital for fourteen weeks, almost crippled. When I got home I continued to take medicine, but began to go down again. A friend of mine asked me to try Kruschen Salts, and I am very pleased to be able to say I have been on the mend ever since."—H.P.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the crystals—the cause of pain and stiffness—and often convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.

Two New Exhibition Buildings Planned

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4—S. C. McLennan, general manager of Vancouver Exhibition Association, announced Thursday two new fair buildings would be constructed at the Canada Pacific Exhibition grounds here this year. The structures will be a new livestock building and a new educational building and will cost, if present plans are adopted, $200,000.

Bluenose Has Sailed Her Last Race Skipper States

LUNENBURG, N.S., Nov. 4—Queen of the North Atlantic fishing fleet, the stately Bluenose returned Thursday to this old fishing town, her home port. Holder of the crown since 1921, she received a real queen's welcome along with her captain, the fiery Angus Walters.

She will remain forever the holder of the International Fishermen's trophy retained in a series of races with Gertrude L. Thebaud which ended eight days ago, according to Capt. Angus. The skipper who has held the helm of the champion through more than 17 years of fishing and racing told the throng, who extended a noisy welcome, the Bluenose was through with the international fishermen's races.

"In all fairness to her I think we should do something different than put her up against newer boats," he said.

Mayor Fry Asserts Halt Called on Edmonton's Capital Expenditures

CANDIDATES START DRIVE CIVIC OFFICES

Two Orderly Meetings Held Thursday—Tram Fares Debated

otherwise perfect meeting occurred when the chairman admonished a candidate for over-talking her time.

"Let her go on," two or three voices cried, but the chairman insisted that this would be unfair to other candidates. The candidate quickly finished her remarks.

MUST HONOR AGREEMENT

Mayor J. W. Fry, following his speech, was asked by a woman listener if he recalled the city amalgamation agreement which called for maintenance of a street car on the McKernan Lake line.

"Yes, we have to honor that agreement," the mayor replied. "It's losing us plenty of money, but, good or bad, we will honor it."

Dr. R. C. Ghostley, independent aldermanic candidate, who had cited several United States cities as having low mill rates, was asked if these cities had "personal taxes."

"These personal taxes are paid by people who don't own property and who get big salaries," he replied from the back of the hall, where he was standing.

"Well, I got a small salary and I paid the personal tax," the questioner fired back.

"Well, I know something about it, too," the candidate countered.

Mayoralty

Mayor J. W. Fry, Citizens' Committee: Our power house extension, shortly to be completed, will render us completely independent of outside source of supply; our telephone equipment in the west end and North Edmonton, which is at present being modernized, will render our system one of the most up to date in the whole of Canada. All our utilities are now completely rehabilitated and brought up to the standard where we can serve our present population for years without additional expenditures except for maintenance.

One of the weak links in our utilities is the street railway system, stated Mayor Fry. A start has been made to bring this into line with our other utilities so that public ownership may justify itself and our people be served with the most up to date equipment.

Our street railway has now been in existence for 30 years. A great deal of track must be replaced. Some of our cars are ready for the scrap heap, three are already laid up. To replace old tracks with a proper roadbed is a very expensive item, costing approximately $90,000 per mile for single and $175,000 per mile for double track. Street cars cost about $20,000 each.

Among the tracks in the worst condition are those on 95 street and those on 99 street south of Strathcona hill. There are about two miles in these bad stretches, and to rehabilitate them for first class service would cost at least $400,000; while to convert to trolley busline with a more efficient and quieter service, the cost would be approximately $270,000, the mayor stated.

The financing of this work has already been provided for. Approximately $110,000 will be provided for the purchase of busses out of funds in reserve account. A loan has been negotiated with the Dominion government for $150,000 at two per cent interest for the balance of the work, and I am confident that increased revenue and lower operating costs will permit us to maintain our present fares.

BUSSES SAVE MONEY

There are some who consider council is incurring an unnecessary expenditure in converting part of the street railway system to bus transportation, stated Mayor Fry. This is not so. The change is being made because it is the considered opinion of council that considerable savings can be effected thereby.

BETTER STREETS

Black top will be spread over the entire roadway which is now cut into by car tracks and the result will be two very fine streets for automobile traffic; streets which at present are in a disgraceful condition.

F. J. Speed, Independent, lived up to his promise to occupy his time with passages from Shakespeare's works, quoting lines from Henry VIII. used by Cardinal Wolsey when taken to York to be imprisoned.

Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., Independent: "This is the most brazen election that has ever been pulled. They are putting two candidates against one candidate and you'll regret it more than the Fortin debt postponement plan, for which you will have to pay through the nose."

He contended that, in its street railway rehabilitation program, the city was paying spot cash for a trolley bus system which was being substituted for a system that was the best in any city of over 50,000 population.

"When you find any candidate suggesting that the last city council has done anything but spend money to advantage, I can't get it," he said.

He stated that he had, as mayor, opened negotiations for the building of two large departmental stores and that he initiated the plan to straighten Elizabeth street (102 Avenue).

Declaring that Edmonton at the present time was a prosperous city, with money being spent in the stores and places of entertainment, he stated that there was no set plan for future civic policy.

"You elect candidates that let the Fortin people get first count on the money and will let you whistle for the rest—and you'll whistle for it," he said.

"We laid down to Fortin and we are paying double the interest that any other city which had an arrangement is paying and we are expected to like it.

"If we hadn't a council that was unanimous, we could get a mill rate of 50 or even 45 mills," he said.

"We are paying our way better than any other city and on that basis we should not pay more than two and a half or three per cent on our bonds, not six and seven per cent," he said.

Relief scandals were hushed up, he alleged.

He had done more than any other councillor to promote development of the flying field for northern business, he concluded.

KNOWS BUSINESS ETHICS

Charles Gould, Civic-Progressive: The candidate said he had had experience in the brokerage, wholesale and retail businesses and held positions in the provincial government service, so that he had a knoweldge of business ethics and practice which would be useful in civic administration.

Referring to a suggestion that the library board was inactive, Mr. Gould said that it had a debt of $8,000 to pay and, as a consequence, could not use the city grant for extension of its activities.

He had been asked if he thought politics had a place in civic affairs and stated that, if a candidate's political affiliation helped him into office, he should devote himself only to the city's business after the election was over.

"I believe we should pursue an investigation of the tax system in order to distribute the burden more equitably. An income tax would be more equitable than the present tax which is altogether on real estate," he said.

He had heard of a graduated scale of property tax, which made the rate lower on lower-priced homes, which he thought merited study.

AGAINST INCREASED FARES

Obtaining of cheap interest on city bonded debts should be possible, he said, because all the city's bonds were callable. He urged that they be called and refunded at low rates.

He would not favor an increase in the street car fare as he "saw no reason to change it." He was not prepared to comment on trolley busses because he felt the city must experiment a bit to find a mode of transportation best suited to its northern climate.

He was a firm believer in public ownership of utilities, he said, and felt that the city should evolve a housing plan.

The city should build houses to rent, he felt, as long as the renting was managed in a businesslike way and provision made for the tenant to purchase his house if he was able.

16-year-old Wheeling, W. Va., girl, has joined the airways as soloist. Competent critics have predicted a brilliant future for this new star.

Aldermanic Board

Hugh John Macdonald, Citizens' Committee. The critical condition of our public utilities which existed in 1937 when the reserve fund of $700,000 for replacement and renewals existed only on paper, has been rectified by funds made available from the Fortin repayment postponement scheme and also approximately $1,700,000 has been made available for renewals and extension to the power plant and telephone system.

Extensions to the power plant, continued Mr. Macdonald, which will be completed by the end of this year will provide a reserve to meet future development in the city for a considerable number of years and will make us independent of outside power supplies.

Funds made available to reestablish the utility replacement reserve and for plant extension is to be repaid out of profits to the sinking fund board on an equalized payment plan. These payments will be utilized to retire city debentures. Revenue from the utilities will also enable the setting up of a reserve trust account for renewals and to take care of depreciation in the plants.

"Under the present utility set-up inaugurated by the Citizens' Committee council it will never be necessary to borrow any money for future utility extensions as reserves are being built up which will be sufficient to take care of these renewals on a cash pay-as-you-go basis.

Not only will the power plant extension enable the city to have ample power reserves, but it will make possible the reduction in the costs of running the plant, thus liberating more money for the relief of the property taxpayer.

M. B. "Red" McColl, Citizens' Committee. Active in the development of sports in the city as well as taking part in many of the major rugby games played here from 1919 to 1923, Mr. McColl is a newcomer in civic politics. He has lived in Edmonton since 1919, graduating from the University of Alberta in 1922, and has been engaged in the insurance business since his graduation.

EX-SERVICE MEN

He was included on the Citizens' Committee slate on the suggestion of the co-ordinating committee formed from ex-service men's associations, who also suggested Sidney Parsons, vice-president of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, as a candidate, it being felt that ex-service men should assume their fair share of responsibility in public affairs at the present time, just as they assumed the burden between 1914 and 1918, Mr. McColl stated.

Mr. McColl made an appeal on behalf of Mr. Parsons, who is at present engaged on work at Peace River and will not be in the city until Saturday. Mr. Parsons, continued Mr. McColl, has taken a deep interest in public affairs. As vice-president of the Trades Council he knows the problems of the working men and women and will fight their battles in the council chamber.

Ald. James H. Ogilvie, Citizens' Committee: When Citizens' Committee representatives gained control of council in 1936 they inherited a 55 mill rate; a bank overdraft of $1,750,000 and a deficit of $1,100,000. The municipality was on the verge of bankruptcy. No civic improvements were being effected, confidence had fled.

SURPLUSES

Today, under the careful, business-like administration of the city's affairs, confidence is returning and the civic picture rapidly brightening. We have a mill rate of 54; the deficit of over $1,000,000 in 1936 has been replaced by surpluses in 1937 and 1938 and if you return the Citizens' ticket this year we promise a surplus in 1939, stated Mr. Ogilvie.

The bank overdraft has been reduced from $1,700,000 to approximately $1,000,000 and with careful financing we hope to wipe it out in a very few years.

JOBS PROVIDED

Surplusses created in 1937 and 1938 under our administration, continued Alderman Ogilvie, have been utilized to provide a work for wages program for the unemployed; to carry out a limited housing scheme with assistance from the Dominion government; to install an ice-plant, another revenue bearing utility, at the Arena, and to make full restoration to all civic employees receiving less than $100 monthly and a partial restoration to employees in the higher wage brackets. This was accomplished from the 1937 surplus.

With the 1938 surplus, 104 avenue, from 101 street to 123 street was paved and also 109 street between 102 and 104 avenues; the Stadium developments were undertaken, and extensive oiling of gravelled roads to combat the dust nuisance. All these improvements have been done out of revenue without borrowing one dollar except that portion chargeable on a frontage basis and payable by abutting owners.

CAPITALIZED

Prior to this organization's candidates obtaining control, continued Mr. Ogilvie, relief expenditures were capitalized. In 1937 and 1938 we have paid for relief costs out of revenue, thus avoiding increased interest charges.

"The confidence in the future of Edmonton which we have helped to build up, has taken hold of private enterprise. This is evident from the improvements seen on every hand. By this record I believe we have earned your support and a renewal of your confidence.

Ald. A. Blair Paterson, Citizens' Committee: By recording your confidence in the candidates endorsed by the citizens' committee last year you demonstrated your faith in the city of Edmonton, and as a result the affairs of your city during 1938 have been administered harmoniously and in a dignified and business-like manner.

As a result of the restoration of confidence by your votes last year both the Hudson's Bay company and T. Eaton company negotiated and entered into mutually satisfactory arrangements with the city for the erection of store buildings here at a cost of approximately $2,000,000. As a result Edmonton carpenters, bricklayers, steelworkers, electricians, other artisans and laborers have been given jobs.

AGREEMENTS

In the agreements made with these firms, continued Mr. Paterson, council was able to have inserted a clause which provided for payment of the current union rates of wages to all employed, and also that as far as possible Edmonton workers would be given employment.

TAX COLLECTIONS IMPROVE

As a result of the building program and the employment of Edmonton men on Edmonton jobs tax payments have increased and this year collections are more than 100 per cent. of the assessment, and 1.3 per cent. ahead off last year.

Confidence has been restored with the result that land sales have increased by $40,000 over last year, and our utilities have piled up surpluses which have enabled council to undertake much needed improvements payable for out of revenue.

These accomplishments are not just fortuitous circumstances. They are the result of careful, business-like administration and a continuance of this progress can be ensured by election of the Citizens' committee candidates next Wednesday, concluded Ald. Paterson.

H. D. Ainlay, Labor-C.C.F.: Absent due to another engagement, the candidate was represented by Clifford Lee who stated he was an ardent admirer of Mr. Ainlay, who had given a great deal of his time to social work, having served four years on council and on other civic boards.

"He lost his seat on council, not because he had not served well, but he was swept out of office when a voice swept over Alberta and swept a great many good men back into private life," Mr. Lee said.

The speaker charged that the Citizens' Committee candidates were Liberals and Conservatives in disguise.

FAVOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

"The C.C.F. and Labor believe in public ownership of what we call public property, such as the utilities," he said. "These other men say that they wouldn't give away our utilities but I know that they are men who are not sympathetic to public ownership.

"I want to know a man's attitude in the larger spheres of political life and then I know where he stands in such matters as civic government," he said.

His first interest, he said, was good wages for the workers, good schools for the children and a good living for the poor man on relief.

Margaret Crang, Civic-Progressive: "It may be old fashioned to plead for the women's vote, but it seems it has to be done. Women should not allow complete control of civic affairs to be left in the hands of 11 men," Miss Crang said.

She would do anything in her power to get a cheap rate of interest on city bonds, believing that two per cent was the highest the city should pay.

"I worked hard for the five-for-a-quarter street car fare," she said, "and you may not know it, but it is in jeopardy."

BUS SYSTEM

If the city continued to change over to the bus system, she said, it might not always be possible to borrow money at two per cent to pay for it and this would cause the fare to be raised.

TAX HIDES PROFITS

She charged that the new tax of approximately $50,000 which was charged against the street railway was placed to hide the profits. The annual statement, she said, showed a deficit of about $30,000 but, when offset against the tax, actually resulted in profit to the city.

The profits on all the utilities, she said, instead of being taxed by the city, should be turned back to the users in the form of reductions in rates.

"I have always taken a keen interest in relief," she said, "and the 10,000 people on relief need a person on council who takes a special interest in their problems."

M. M. Downey, Independent: Stated he felt he could help solve some of the problems coming before council better than some of the other candidates who were offering their services.

"If I am elected I will meet each question as it comes and will vote as conscience dictates. Nobody will have any strings on me," he said.

SERVICES

He was anxious that the mill rate be kept as low as possible but recognized that certain services had to be paid for.

"I feel that some of the services, such as relief, which we are paying for, should be paid for by the provincial or Dominion governments," he said.

He felt that the library board was being neglected and would devote some of his time to that phase of the city's activities.

WOULD GIVE FULL TIME

"If I am elected I will devote my whole time to the city's affairs," he said.

He believed that the city should borrow money and lend it to people who wished to build houses and own them but was not in favor of the city going into the rental business. "I have never lived in a rented house in my life," he said.

Elisha East, Civic Progressive. Declared he could give progressive legislation if sent back to the city council.

Referring to a statement by ex-Mayor Clarke that $25,000 had been spent in Edmonton to "put over the Fortin scheme", he said that, as chairman of the committee that negotiated the debt extension plan, he had not received any cut in such money and did not know of its existence.

NEGOTIATIONS

As a result of his committee's negotiations, he said, Edmonton was the first city in Canada which obtained the right to call its bonds.

"Since that plan came into effect," he said, "the federal government has taken over control of the National bank. If you press the Dominion government now, you should be able to get money from your own bank at low rates of interest, call your bonds and refund them.

MONEY WOULD RETURN

"Besides," he added, "if you should have to pay more than three per cent. on such a refunding plan, you are dealing with your own bank and the money would come back to you in some other way."

He would not change the present five-for-a-quarter fare on street cars, he said, pointing out that the street railway was being run with a small profit.

The city badly needed homes and should go into a plan to lend money for building of houses, but the loans should be at cheap interest.

J. W. Findlay, Labor-C.C.F.: "Some of the things which happen make me wonder if the people on the board of aldermen have any idea what they should do," he said.

The National Housing Act offered three plans for housing and the council should evolve a plan from these, rather than ask instruction through a plebiscite, he felt.

"I suggested giving lots away for a dollar to anyone who would build and met with great opposition, but now the federal government suggests that we come down to $50 a lot and the city is agreeing," he said.

STREET RAILWAY

"The only thing the city council seems to have a policy on at present is the extension of the street railway. But they should have a policy for the city's affairs stretching over a number of years. If they go on, only planning from year to year, it will only be a short time until they go on the rocks.

"We hear nothing in this election on revision of taxation. I would suggest that, up to a certain period, we cancel arrears of taxes in order to give home owners a chance to get a new foothold and lift the caveats on their property."

He approved of the five-for-a-quarter street car fare when he was on council but would not agree to a straight five-cent cash fare until it was proved practical.

The city council would have to consider the question of railway amalgamation, to which he was opposed, he said. Amalgamation might transfer some of the railway facilities to Calgary and remove a large payroll from this city.

Dr. R. C. Ghostley, Independent: He did not agree with the fine picture which was painted of the city's finances when people were losing their homes for taxes, he said.

PROTECTION

"A few cities in the United States," he said, "have policies which protect the homes of taxpayers." He named several which, he said, had tax rates of 15 mills.

"This was accomplished by means of taxation which prevents cancellation of home ownership," he added.

The Fortin debt postponement plan, he said, only took $900,000 out of the sinking fund to spend for the utilities. "When we can reduce the taxes as I have said, that is the time to spend money to keep up with the Joneses."

Asked by a member of the audience which of the cities he had named operated a "personal tax," he replied that the personal tax was paid by persons who did not own property and had big salaries.

"I got a small salary and I paid the personal tax," the questioner countered.

W. H. Miller, Labor-C.C.F.: "Unlike some of the people in this campaign I am definitely political. I am a representative of Labor and we have a slate—a slate to be proud of. We of the Labor group stress that we are the social pioneers for progress."

He declared that all the reforms of governments came as result of the challenge of the Labor group, which was a challenge to the "ruthless system of competition."

HUMAN VALUES

The Labor party placed "human values before property rights." Some progress was being made by governments, but it was because of the

The Italian Settlement?

The British House of Commons approved the general pact of settlement with Italy. This will come into effect shortly, and Il Duce's conquest of Abyssinia will then have recognition by all the powers in Europe excepting Russia. In return, Mr. Chamberlain explained, Mussolini has already withdrawn half his infantry forces from Spain, promises to withdraw all the remaining Italian forces and to send no more. He cited as assurance of the validity of the undertaking the declarations of Hitler and Mussolini that neither has any "territorial ambitions in Spain."

The support the dictators gave Franco was not, it is thus implied, on Franco's account but on their own. The threat to make Spain an Italian outpost, with a German fortress across the Straits of Gibraltar, was intended to compel Britain and France to agree to their plans elsewhere. Hitler having been given his way in central Europe and Mussolini in Abyssinia, the stakes are won and the game is over. The Italian troops are to go home, according to promise, though nothing has been said about the Nazi guns being taken back to Germany and the Moroccos base commanded.

What the settlement is worth has to be measured for the present by the yardstick of dictator promises. They give up nothing but freedom to continue in the role of freebooters, and whether they will resume the role—in the same or some other area—rests with themselves.

One reassuring fact is that the Government of South Africa is a consenting party. That is the British dominion directly concerned, and it is apparently willing to trust that Il Duce will not attempt fresh raids in Africa—or will be called to account if he does.

The Better Way

It is to be hoped the negotiations now under way may result in a refunding of the provincial debt in terms of the present rental value of money. Immediately that might make no difference in dollars and cents, since the province is actually paying only half the contract rates of interest. But there is the possibility that the reducing legislation might be upset by the courts, in which case the province would become liable for the money withheld under its terms, now amounting to some millions of dollars. And, if good law, arbitrary reduction is a far from desirable method of obtaining relief, only justified on grounds of urgent necessity. This was recognized when the legislature, in passing the arbitrary legislation, left on the statute book the act of 1935 which empowers the Government to proceed with refunding operations as these may be possible. The quite clear intent was that a downward revision of rates should be arranged if possible by consent of the bondholders, the province meantime to pay half-rates.

A refunding scheme would clear up the situation, since the bondholders could then be offered the choice of having their principal returned at once or of accepting the new lower-rate bonds. No proper fault could be found with requiring them to do the one or the other, since the original rates are simply not payable. There is in fact every prospect that the bondholders would accept the offer as fair and satisfactory.

Should refunding be done in the United States, a condition necessary to make this advantageous would be that payments of principal and interest on the new bonds could be made in "lawful money of Canada" at par, with no side-demands for "premiums" should the United States dollar on any pay-off day happen to be rated higher than the Canadian dollar. Otherwise the province might lose in "premiums" what it saved in reduced rate of interest.

A Nonplussed Premier

Premier Hepburn just cannot understand "What concern was it of Hon. G. A. Crerar" that the Ontario Government wanted to export Quebec power through Ontario into the United States, nor why some of the members of parliament "most bitterly opposed to the proposal were from the West".

The purpose for which the cheap supply of power was wanted in the United States was that there might be built up on the south side of the St. Lawrence great industrial establishments admirably situated to deliver their products at low prices in the Canadian market. If that were the end of the matter, western consumers would certainly join Premier Hepburn in denouncing the members who prevented that most desirable development taking place.

But United States manufacturers have a way of producing and selling their goods at lower prices than Canadian manufacturers admit they can meet. The presence of these so conveniently situated United States competitors would have provided the manufacturers of Ontario and Quebec with the strongest possible argument why a Haman's gallows tariff should be maintained against United States goods. Which argument, history leaves no doubt, would have been employed to the limit, and with success, upon the 147 members of the House of Commons representing the provinces of Ontario and Quebec out of a total membership of 245.

The upshot of it was that Canadian power would have been used to rivet the shackles of an oppressive tariff firmly upon the consuming public of Canada. Premier Hepburn may not have known that in fathering the scheme he was being "had" by Premier Duplessis and the highly protected interests of the two provinces. The western members, to their eternal credit, saw the trap as well as the bait, and refused to steer their constituents into it.

Editorial Notes

It did not take Messrs. Ciano and Ribbentrop long to say how much of Czechoslovakia is to be handed over to Hungary. That had been decided for them before they left home. All the "arbitrators" had to do was pronounce sentence.

As a corollary to their declarations that the "open door" in China will remain open only so far as the Japanese may choose, Tokyo papers are inviting London to recall the British ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie. Hon. Randolph Bruce, Canada's minister, has beaten them to it by saying he is going to quit. Sir Robert more than likely is in the same state of mind. To be persona grata with the war lords a representative of a law-abiding country at Tokyo must be a wily diplomat or a dumb-bell.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

BETTER THAN FISHING

A reader may have suspected I am fond of fishing. But better far than catching fish is to be out in a boat with companions who are intellectually alive, and who talk unrestrainedly about the most important subject. There is no other entertainment so profitable as good conversation.

Why should not the presiding genius of every dinner table, and of every informal social gathering, guide the talk into worth-while themes? In there is full share of nonsense, of course; but not to the neglect of the great topic—including religion—which should be the major concern of all thoughtful persons who are alive to this present world.

While They Communed Together: Jesus Himself drew near and went with them. Speak . . . that we may talk of topics most worthwhile. Amen.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Much as I'd like to contribute towards solving the unemployment problem, I can't recommend any of the customers to engage in the business of being a German spy. Unkind realism, disclosed in the present espionage trials in New York, strips the glamor from that alluring business. There are references to forging White House notepaper in an effort to obtain aircraft carrier plans, and to a plot to kidnap a colonel, render him unconscious with gas from a magic fountain pen and steal his secret plans for the mobilization of coast defenses, but the pay-off seems inadequate. Though one chap confessed his guilt and told of supplying the German War Office with information about the Panama Canal defences and the secret "Z" communications between U.S. army planes and landing fields, he got little out of it. Though thousand-dollar bills were brandished under his nose as an inducement to get the secret plans for the air defences of New York, all he appears to have got is $40 in cash, some insults, hard work, airy promises and prosecution.

NO MONEY IN BEING A SPY

In these days of rampant unemployment, it's something to learn how you get a job as a German spy. Guenther Gustav Rumrich had been thrilled by reading a book on German espionage, written by Colonel Nicholai, former head of the German Intelligence. He thought he would like to share in the excitements and emoluments of successful espionage. How was he to land the job? Rumrich, who had served a few months in the U.S. army and deserted, bethought himself to write to Colonel Nicholai in care of Adolf Hitler's paper Voelkischer Beobachter. Though he had only been a hospital orderly and dispenser's clerk, he described himself as a former U.S. army lieutenant with extensive experience in the air corps at Panama and Hawaii. If the German War Office wished to get in touch with him, it could insert an ad in the "Personal" column of the New York Times, addressed to Theodore Koerner.

IN CARE OF HITLER'S PAPER

Sure enough, three weeks later, there appeared an ad in the "personal" column of the New York Times, requesting Theodore Koerner to get in communication with his friend Sanders at P.O. Box 629, Hamburg, Germany. Rumrich wrote off to "Sanders" who queried him on the army units in the Canal Zone. As the answers checked with information already in the possession of "Sanders," the latter sent Rumrich two $20 bills and a request for confidential information about the U.S. army and navy.

When Rumrich mailed "Sanders" a copy of Infantry Drill Regulations he received back a snorty letter from "Sanders" telling him to stop sending such "junk." Later on, Rumrich says he met Karl Schlueter, a member of the S.S. Europa's crew. Schlueter had a scheme to fabricate copies of White House stationery in Hamburg, on which they would write in President Roosevelt's name, requesting the construction chief of the navy to furnish plans of the new aircraft carrier Enterprise. It was dropped because they couldn't devise a means for intercepting the plans if the construction chief complied. Schlueter, said Rumrich, flourished two $1,000 bills beneath his nose and said they would be Rumrich's if he could get him detailed information of the anti-aircraft defenses in the New York metropolitan area. He did give him $5 on parting.

SEA-CAPTAIN MESSENGERS

Capt. Friske was supplied with the "copy" for the ad, with $10 to pay for its insertion, and a permit from the German Exchange control officer, allowing him to take the ten dollars out of the country.

Upon arrival in New York, Captain Friske turned the advertisement and cash over to Captain Emil Maurer, assistant marine superintendent of the North German Lloyd Line to take to the newspaper office.

Apparently the New York Times was suspicious of the ad, for a Times investigator called upon Captain Maurer before the newspaper would run the advertisement. Captain Maurer assured the investigator that the advertisement was a personal matter, unconnected with politics. It was accepted by The Times as being on the stationery of the North German Lloyd Line.

Writers of detective fiction should keep their eyes on this interesting espionage trail.

Echoes Of The "Invasion"

Complaints have been frequent that such terrifying radio personages as "The Shadow" (once, by the way, played by the talented Mr. Welles) have frightened children out of their wits, but this time it was the adults who met the bogeyman . . . The whole performance was monstrous and cruel.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Of course it should never happen again. But we don't agree with those who are arguing that the Sunday night scare shows a need for strict government censorship of radio . . . If so many people could be misled unintentionally . . . what could designing politicians not do?—New York World-Telegram.

The radio broadcast which caused panic in many parts of the United States by dramatizing an imaginary invasion shows how dangerous the (?) use of the air can be. It seems incredible that so many intelligent people scattered over the entire country could be thus misled when the proposed performance was announced a week ago and defined at least four times during presentation of the thrilling adaptation of Wells' fantastic conception of a future war. In some ways the disturbance was unfortunate, but the consensus of comment indicates how unprepared Americans would be in a similar eventuality.—Salt Lake Tribune.

The nation-wide scare brought a reaction familiar to newspapers. Newspapers, through the years, have built up a high standard of responsibility. Old Country Letter

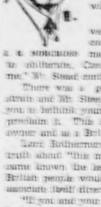
By J. E. MURCHISON

LONDON, Eng.—(By Mail)—While all the big dailies were furnished with copies, only two have published some very lively correspondence between Lord Rothermere, chief owner of the Daily Mail, and Mr. Wickham Steed, former editor of The Times.



J. E. MURCHISON

Mr. Steed wrote to Lord Rothermere deploring publication in the Daily Mail of an editorial, "based on misleading information," which might "help to bring on a European war into which Great Britain would willy-nilly be drawn."

"Why you should wish to weaken the defence of this country by encouraging Germany to attack, and, if possible, to obliterate, Czechoslovakia, is a mystery to me," Mr. Steed continued.

There was a good deal more in the same strain and Mr. Steed concluded severely: "I urge you to bethink yourself to learn the truth and to proclaim it. This is your duty as a newspaper owner and as a British peer."

Lord Rothermere replied that the more the truth about "this monstrosity of a country" became known the less chance there was that the British people would allow their government to associate itself directly or indirectly in its affairs.

"If you and your friends had their way," Lord Rothermere's letter continued, "you might provoke a war infinitely more disastrous than the Great War of 1914.

"I suppose you do know—but I should like to impress it upon you—that the day Great Britain goes to war in pursuit of some aim or design in Central Europe two or three of our most important Dominions will declare their neutrality, and by doing so will bring an immediate end to the British Empire."

SIDE GLANCES — by George Clark

What Is Your Opinion?

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Bulletin are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study brevity. A limit of 250 words must be insisted on.

On Evolution

Editor, Bulletin: Please allow me space for a reply to the letter of Mr. E. H. Anderson of October 26, entitled, "Truth Seeking Science" in which he speaks of "the authority of evolution."

In the dictionary evolution is defined as a development from simple forms. There is no evidence that the lower or simpler forms preceded the higher or more complex. The simplest forms of life, the one-celled plants and animals, are plentiful still. Why do they survive? Should they not have developed into more complex forms long since?

Why is it so many of the great scientists of the world, and thinking people generally, reject evolution? The answer is: Because there is no evidence that can really satisfy any intelligent seeker after the truth. If evolution were true, and species were changing into other and higher species, thousands of the intermediate links would be in evidence. In all the living fauna on the earth, not one missing link has been found.

Contrary to Mr. Anderson's statement, there is no concrete evidence for this ridiculous theory.

Listen to what two great scientists have to say about evolution: Dr. J. Ambrose Fleming, D.Sc., F.R.S., of London University, discussing the theory that man and the simians have a common, though remote ancestor, says: "This theory is an unverified hypothesis; it has a most slender basis of fact and has been rejected by some of the most eminent naturalists."

Professor Haeckel, the great German evolutionist, said before he died: "Most modern investigators of science have come to the conclusion that the doctrine of evolution, and particularly Darwinism, is an error, and cannot be maintained."

Darwin, himself, admitted the absence of proof when he said: "We cannot prove a single species has been changed." ("The Life and Letters of Charles Darwin," Vol. I, page 210).

It is extremely unfortunate that Mr. Anderson is so unfamiliar with the facts on the subject of evolution and his knowledge of the Bible. I hope he and many others may have learned something from this letter.

Doubts Peace Permanent

Editor, Bulletin: Apparently Hitler is now demanding the return of the colonies which Germany lost after the Great War. Under these circumstances I would, I think, be well to critically examine the policy followed by Mr. Chamberlain which seems to assert: "Give the dictator and aggressor what they want, then they will be satisfied and not start or threaten to start another war." In this connection the last few years supply some experience which cannot be overlooked.

In 1931 Japan invaded and seized Manchuria. The League of Nations did not take measures to stop this aggression. Today Japan is invading and laying ruin to the whole of China and her militarist rulers have ambitions to conquer and control the whole Far East. Did the policy of letting Japan have its own way stop war here?

In 1935 Italy invaded and seized Ethiopia. Today the continues a war of invasion in Spain, is seeking control of the Mediterranean and backs Hitler in his acts of aggression. Did the policy of letting Italy have its way curb her ambitions or remove the war danger?

Yesterday Hitler was allowed to militarize the Rhineland. He was allowed to seize Austria. Today he is also conducting a war of invasion in Spain. He demanded and got the Sudeten area under the pretext of "saving" the Sudeten Germans. Today, encouraged and strengthened by his successes, his paid agents incite civil strife in those countries that have German minorities, thus paving the way for the "saving" of more Germans. Today Hitler demands the return of Germany's former colonies. Today Hitler works desperately for economic, political and military control of all central Europe, and for a free hand to attack the Soviet Union. Did the policy of giving in to Hitler aid the peace of the world?

History, logic, current events, everything cries out against this policy of concessions to aggressors. Concessions do not bring peace, they bring WAR. Every concession gives the dictator so much more prestige in his own country. Every concession makes him so much stronger in an economic and military sense. Every concession only helps to destroy the peace of the world and to further endanger the existing democracies.

Those who rang bells on Sept. 30 thinking that peace is here at last may yet wring their hands in suffering and despair brought about by war.

Today is the 70th birthday of Holy Trinity church, Winnipeg. It was on Nov. 4, 1868, that the church was opened. Its history is interesting.

In 1867 Bishop Machray deputed Archdeacon McLean to organize a parish in the village of Fort Garry (it was not Winnipeg until 1873). The first services were held in the court-house, a small building near Fort Garry, and afterwards services were held in "Red River hall," near the corner of Portage and Main. The first church edifice was opened on Nov. 4, 1868, a simple and unpretentious building, situated at the corner of Portage and Garry.

The growth of the parish and congregation was most encouraging, and in 1870 the original structure was greatly enlarged. In 1873 Archdeacon McLean was elected bishop of the new diocese of Saskatchewan and he was succeeded as rector by Rev. J. D. O'Meara. In 1875 Canon Grisdale of St. John's college was in charge of the parish and during this year a new church, seating 450, was erected. It was necessary to elect a new rector and the choice fell on a young clergyman of Montreal, Rev. O. Fortin, and on Nov. 11, 1875 he was inducted as rector.

In 1879 lots were obtained at the corner of Graham and Donald, the present site, and there a frame church was erected. This was replaced in 1884 by the present beautiful edifice.

On Sunday, Nov. 28, 1917, Archdeacon Fortin preached his farewell sermon. In the autumn of 1918 Rev. W. J. Southam, of Toronto, succeeded Archdeacon Fortin as rector. Mr. Southam resigned in 1926, and in April, 1927, Rev. Canon C. Carruthers of Holy Trinity, Edmonton, was called to be rector.

Sunshine Shafts

He (at races): "Let me back one more horse. I promise it will be the last."

She: "It usually is."

"You a Scotsman, and you don't play golf?"

"Ay, I haven't played for years."

"Why not?"

"I lost me ball."

The owner of a high powered car was being driven along at a steady forty-five. For some time the hooting of a baby car behind had irritated him.

"Accelerate," he said to the chauffeur.

The car jumped from forty-five to sixty, but still came the steady honk-honk of the baby car.

"Give her all she's got," said the owner of the car.

His chauffeur stepped on the gas, and the speedometer was soon flickering between seventy-five and eighty. But still the honk-honk persisted.

"Pull up," said the baffled owner. The big car stopped and the baby car drew up just behind.

"Look here," yelled the angry owner, "do you want to pass?"

"No," shouted the man in the small car. "I just wanted to get my starting handle out of your luggage grid."

CANDIDATES START DRIVE CIVIC OFFICES

Two Orderly Meetings Are Held Thursday—Tram Fares Debated activity of the work of the working classes, he said.

He chided the voters for accepting the efforts of the working class representatives and then voting members of the privileged classes into office. The Labor party had a platform for this election which would "deal with realities," he said.

Sidney Bowcott, Independent: He sought election to the aldermanic board after serving seven years on the school board. He was seeking a seat on the senior board, he explained because he understood there was the possibility that an attempt would be made to merge school board and city council. He was opposed to this, and wanted to be on the city council to combat any such move. He expressed opposition to the proposed trolley bus transportation scheme, predicting its failure and the increase of street railway fares to 10 cents each to meet the deficits occasioned by operation of these busses. Mr. Bowcott favored a housing plan for Edmonton stating there was a shortage of 5,000 houses in this city at present.

School Board

F. Armour Ford, Citizens' Committee: Seeking re-election Mr. Ford stressed the necessity of pressing for increased grants from the provincial government toward education costs. The provincial government lays down education requirements; makes education up to a certain age compulsory; fixes the course of studies; the standard of equipment and legislates for a minimum wage for school teachers and yet only pays seven per cent of the education costs of the city of Edmonton. He contended the provincial government should assume a greater share of these costs, pointing to the fact that in Britain the government paid 54 per cent and in the United States the federal government assumed 30 per cent of education costs.

PROVINCE MUST HELP

Increased expenditures cannot be undertaken until the province assumes its rightful share of these costs, continued Mr. Ford.

He was opposed to increased expenditures except to provide greater physical culture facilities and equipment for the new "enterprise" course. He was also opposed to provision of free text books to all grades, but made it clear that children of parents in needy circumstances would be provided with necessary text books. "There is no case in the city," stated Mr. Ford, "of a child being prevented from getting his education because his parents could not buy text books."

Last year free text books cost $4,073; this year a similar amount will be spent on this service in addition to which all classroom supplies—pencils, paper, erasers, etc., are supplied free to all pupils.

Mrs. W. J. Ross, Citizens' Committee:. Text books are provided free to all pupils in grades one to eight, and a loaning plan adopted by the school board makes text books for the higher grades available to children of parents unable to purchase them. No deserving pupil in Edmonton's schools have been handicapped through inability to purchase text books.

SIGHT-SAVING

Mrs. Ross outlined special activities of the school board in providing a sight saving class for children with poor vision or who were in danger of losing their sight; special classes for sub-normal children in which they were taught rug-making, woodwork, weaving, knitting, basketry, etc., and as much academic work as they could absorb.

Another service provided, she stated, was that of a visiting teacher who attended the homes of students unable to attend school through crippled condition or maladies which prevented them from attending class-rooms.

ASKS THIRD TERM

She appealed for re-election for a third term, and stressed the necessity of having a woman on the board to deal with problems which could be handled more satisfactorily by her than by the board as a whole.

W. G. McConachie, Citizens' Committee: A newcomer to municipal politics, Mr. McConachie said he consented to run on the Citizens' Committee slate when it was represented to him that it was that body's object to have candidates in the field who would represent a fair cross-section of all classes and districts in the city. "It is not wisdom for a new aspirant for office to bring forward spacious promises of changed policy," stated Mr. McConachie, "but rather to be determined to bring to bear on the problems which arise in administration an unbiased judgment and to support only that whcih is in the best interests of all the citizens. He intimated he was opposed to heavy capital expenditures, and promised to keep general expenditure as low as possible commensurate with efficient service.

Archibald Richardson, Labor-C.C.F. "We think that the representatives of the workers should have an opportunity to serve on the civic boards," he said.

PLATFORM

His party, he said, had a platform of plans which were of immediate need for the "slums or semi-slums of this city." The C.C.F. had an educational committee which would aid its representatives in their work on the city school board. He would be delighted to attend any community meeting to give an account of things which he planned to do on the school board.

"I stand firm for collective bargaining and keeping up the level of income for the workers," he said.

W. H. Thornton, Labor-C.C.F. He had lived in Edmonton all his life, 33 years, was educated at Norwood, Highlands and Victoria High schools. He was "glad to be associated on the Labor ticket with the others on that ticket," and sought office to relieve some of the needs of the poorer classes.

"Politics is the science of government and we of the Labor groups have studied the science of government so that, when we get into power, we won't have hitches between the civic, provincial and federal administrations," he said.

He advocated free text books for all grade 9 pupils, stating this was the only grade in the intermediate section not so supplied. Grade 9, he said, had come to be the minimum standard of education required for entrance to most vocations.

BOOKS WILL BE BOUGHT

"Suppose the mill rate is raised," he said. "The school books are going to be bought and it is just a case of those who can afford it paying a little larger share of their cost.

"Education is a social responsibility. An educated community is a social asset and eventually will be worth money even if the mill rate does go up."

New Envoy

Formerly foreign minister in the Hirota cabinet in 1936-1937, Hachiro Arita, above, again returns to that post in the Japanese cabinet of Premier Fuminaro Konoye. He succeeds General Kazuschige Ugaki, who resigned last month because of differences of opinion with the army over establishment of the China board to administer Japan's policies in China.

SALLY RAND FOUND GUILTY TWO CHARGES

Noted Fan Dancer Convicted Of Assault and Battery

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4—Sally Rand, fan and bubble dancer, was convicted on two counts of assault and battery by a municipal court Thursday in connection with an attack upon a candid camera photographer and his young woman companion.

The dancer was charged with biting and scratching Ray Stanford and Hazel Drain after they took close-up pictures of her while she performed on a theatre stage.

Municipal Judge C. A. Ballreich instructed the jury of nine women and three men that "The right of privacy does not exist where a person has become so prominent that by his very prominence he has dedicated his life to the public."

Social Credit Fine But Province Unable To Handle: Claimed

VICTORIA, Nov. 4—Social Credit "is one of the finest economic plans ever evolved by the mind of man but it cannot be handled by a provincial legislature," Capt. C. R. Bull, Liberal, South Okanagan, told members in the British Columbia legislature Thursday.

He had discussed Social Credit with people in his constituency, Capt. Bull said.

CAMROSE WILL LOSE POPULAR CRAIG FAMILY

Physician Was Manager of Baseball and Hockey Clubs For 10 Years

CAMROSE, Nov. 4.—Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Craig will leave Camrose Sunday to live at Mayerthorpe, Alta., 100 miles northwest of Edmonton. The doctor and family came to Camrose 20 years ago from Sedgewick, where he had carried on his practise as physician and surgeon as well as running a 20-bed hospital for a number of years.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig originally came from Ontario, the former being born at Lansdowne, in the Thousand Islands. Mrs. Craig was born at Port Hope on Lake Ontario. The doctor took his high school course at Kingston Collegiate and entered Queen's University, graduating in 1909. While in university his hobby was athletics. He won a silver cup at Royal Military College sports in 1905, for the half-mile sprint in two minutes and one second, and is informed this record has not been broken on that track since.

MANAGED CLUBS

Soon after coming to Camrose, he entered the athletic life and managed the baseball and hockey clubs for ten years. Though his experience and efforts, Camrose always had top-notch teams. Beside sport his hobby was big game hunting, and one of his trophies, a Rocky Mountain goat which is considered one of the best to come out of the mountains.

Professionally Dr. Craig specializes in surgery and gynecology having post graduated from New York hospitals.

On the staff of St. Mary's hospital, Camrose, he lectured to the nurses on surgery, gynaecology, throat, eye, ear and nose, as well as pathology. He also has donated each year a gold medal to the nurse winning the highest marks in exams and general proficiency in practical work. One year ago, Dr. Craig was appointed by the C.P.R. as surgeon on the Empress of Canada.

In locating at Mayerthorpe the doctor once more feels that he is getting into the old west spirit where every person is on his toes and a booster. The town has provided a private hospital for the winter until they build their new 15-bed hospital next spring.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig have been entertained with many farewell evenings. The Sisters of St. Mary's hospital and nursing staff entertained at a banquet and made presentations. A smoker was given by the business men, and a banquet by the curling club.

Mrs. Craig was active in musical as well as in church functions. She is a member of the Eastern Star where she occupied the matron's chair and last year was appointed to represent her lodge in one of the highest positions in the order.

They have two children, Vernon and Mildred. Both received their public and high school training in Camrose. Vernon, graduating from the Camrose Normal, taught for three years, after which he entered Queen's University where he is preparing to follow the footsteps of his father in the medical profession. Mildred entered the Misericordia hospital, Edmonton, and graduated as a nurse. She is at the present time in the Barrhead hospital.

Dr. Craig was active with the B.P.O.E. lodge here. He was a charter member of B.P.O.E. No. 70 and is a past exalted ruler. He is a staunch Liberal and polled his first vote in 1896 for Sir Wilfrid Laurier who was elected premier of Canada. The doctor proudly states "that he has never had any reason to vote otherwise than for Liberalism."

WESTLOCK

Remembrance Day Fetes Are Now Prepared

Preparations for celebration of Remembrance Day in Westlock district are complete. Memorial services will be held at 11:00 a.m. in the U.F.A. Hall, Westlock, and the Community Hall, Clyde. Banquets and dances will be held in the evening at Westlock, Jarvie and Sunlebend while members of Clyde Canadian Legion will follow the morning service with a lunch and general meeting for discussion of ex-servicemen's problems, concluding the day's activities with a whist drive and dance.

All points announce their poppy campaign to be well in hand and record returns are expected. Rural schools not provided for in previous years should get in touch with the nearest Legion secretary immediately to ensure that the committee's slogan of "A poppy in every home" may not fall short of fulfilment.

WESTLOCK

Farmers Rest As Snow Falls

Light snow storms here, while making country roads decidedly slippery, have been welcomed by farmers as they took a brief respite from watching bush and ground fires. For the past few weeks, the situation has been serious as ground fires crept into hay meadows and spruce groves for some miles north of Westlock, destroying stacks and causing anxiety on every hand.

NORTH RED DEER

Chickenpox Cases

Several new cases of chickenpox is reported in the village and steps are being taken to prevent further contagion.

The Italian Settlement?

The British House of Commons approved the general pact of settlement with Italy. This will come into effect shortly, and Il Duce's conquest of Abyssinia will then have recognition by all the powers in Europe excepting Russia. In return, Mr. Chamberlain explained, Mussolini has already withdrawn half his infantry forces from Spain, promises to withdraw all the remaining Italian forces and to send no more. He cited as assurance of the validity of the undertaking the declarations of Hitler and Mussolini that neither has any "territorial ambitions in Spain."

The support the dictators gave Franco was not, it is thus implied, on Franco's account but on their own. The threat to make Spain an Italian outpost, with a German fortress across the Straits of Gibraltar, was intended to compel Britain and France to agree to their plans elsewhere. Hitler having been given his way in central Europe and Mussolini in Abyssinia, the stakes are won and the game is over. The Italian troops are to go home, according to promise, though nothing has been said about the Nazi guns being taken back to Germany and the Morocco base evacuated.

What the settlement is worth has to be measured for the present by the yardstick of dictator promises. They give up nothing but freedom to continue in the role of freebooters, and whether they will resume the role—in the same or some other area—rests with themselves.

One reassuring fact is that the Government of South Africa is a consenting party. That is the British dominion directly concerned, and it is apparently willing to trust that Il Duce will not attempt fresh raids in Africa—or will be called to account if he does.

The Better Way

It is to be hoped the negotiations now under way may result in a refunding of the provincial debt in terms of the present rental value of money. Immediately that might make no difference in dollars and cents, since the province is actually paying only half the contract rates of interest. But there is the possibility that the reducing legislation might be upset by the courts, in which case the province would become liable for the money withheld under its terms, now amounting to some millions of dollars. And, if good law, arbitrary reduction is a far from desirable method of obtaining relief, only justified on grounds of urgent necessity. This was recognized when the legislature, in passing the arbitrary legislation, left on the statute book the act of 1935 which empowers the Government to proceed with refunding operations as these may be possible. The quite clear intent was that a downward revision of rates should be arranged if possible by consent of the bondholders, the province meantime to pay half-rates.

A refunding scheme would clear up the situation, since the bondholders could then be offered the choice of having their principal returned at once or of accepting the new lower-rates bonds. No proper fault could be found with requiring them to do the one or the other, since the original rates are simply not payable. There is in fact every prospect that the bondholders would accept the offer as fair and satisfactory.

Should refunding be done in the United States, a condition necessary to make this advantageous would be that payments of principal and interest on the new bonds could be made in "lawful money of Canada" at par, with no side-demands for "premiums" should the United States dollar on any pay-off day happen to be rated higher than the Canadian dollar. Otherwise the province might lose in "premiums" what it saved in reduced rates of interest.

A Nonplussed Premier

Premier Hepburn just cannot understand "What concern was it of Hon. J. A. Crerar" that the Ontario Government wanted to export Quebec power through Ontario into the United States; nor why some of the members of parliament "most bitterly opposed to the proposal were from the West".

The purpose for which this cheap supply of power was wanted in the United States was that there might be built up on the south side of the St. Lawrence great industrial establishments admirably situated to deliver their products at low prices in the Canadian market. If that were the end of the matter, western consumers would certainly join Premier Hepburn in denouncing the members who prevented that most desirable development taking place.

But United States manufacturers have a way of producing and selling their goods at lower prices than Canadian manufacturers admit they can meet. The presence of these so conveniently situated United States competitors would have provided the manufacturers of Ontario and Quebec with the strongest possible argument why a Haman's gallows tariff should be maintained against United States goods. Which argument, history leaves no doubt, would have been employed to the limit, and with success, upon the 147 members of the House of Commons representing the provinces of Ontario and Quebec out of a total membership of 245.

The upshot of it was that Canadian power would have been used to rivet the shackles of an oppressive tariff firmly upon the consuming public of Canada. Premier Hepburn may not have known that in fathering the scheme he was being "had" by Premier Duplessis and the highly protected interests of the two provinces. The western members, to their eternal credit, saw the trap as well as the bait, and refused to steer their constituents into it.

Editorial Notes

It did not take Messrs. Ciano and Ribbentrop long to say how much of Czechoslovakia is to be handed over to Hungary. That had been decided for them before they left home. All the "arbitrators" had to do was pronounce sentence.

As a corollary to their declarations that the "open door" in China will remain open only so far as the Japanese may choose, Tokyo papers are inviting London to recall the British ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie. Hon. Randolph Bruce, Canada's minister, has beaten them to it by saying he is going to quit. Sir Robert more than likely is in the same state of mind. To be persona grata with the war lords a representative of a law-abiding country at Tokyo must be a wily diplomat or a dumb-bell.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

BETTER THAN FISHING

As readers may have suspected, I am fond of fishing. But better fun than catching fish is to be out in a boat with companions who are intellectually alive, and who talk unrestrainedly about the most important subjects. There is no other entertainment so profitable as good conversation.

Why should not the presiding genius of every dinner table, and of every informal social gathering, guide the talk into worth-while themes? Let there be a full share of nonsense, of course; but not to the neglect of the great topics—including religion—which should be the major concern of all thoughtful persons who are alive to this present world.

When Thou, O risen Christ, didst talk with two wayfarers, their hearts burned within them. Speak so to us, that we, too, may talk of topics most worth while. Amen.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Much as I'd like to contribute towards solving the unemployment problem, I can't recommend any of the customers to engage in the business of being a German spy. Unkind realism, disclosed in the present espionage trials in New York, strip the glamor from that alluring business. There are references to forging White House notepaper in an effort to obtain aircraft carrier plans, and to a plot to kidnap a colonel, render him unconscious with gas from a magic fountain pen and steal his secret plans for the mobilization of coast defences, but the pay-off seems inadequate. Though one chap confessed his guilt and told of supplying the German War Office with information about the Panama Canal defences and the secret "Z" communications between U.S. army planes and landing fields, he got little out of it. Though thousand-dollar bills were brandished under his nose as an incitement to get the secret plans for the air defences of New York, all he appears to have got is $45 in cash, some insults, hard work, airy promises and prosecution.

In these days of rampant unemployment, it's something to learn how you get a job as a German spy. Guenther Gustav Rumrich had been thrilled by reading a book on German espionage, written by Colonel Nicholai, former head of the German Intelligence. He thought he would like to share in the excitements and emoluments of successful espionage. How was he to land the job? Rumrich, who had served a few months in the U.S. army and deserted, bethought himself to write to Colonel Nicholai in care of Adolf Hitler's paper Voelkischer Beobachter. Though he had only been a hospital orderly and dispenser's clerk, he described himself as a former U.S. army lieutenant with extensive experience in the air corps at Panama and Hawaii. If the German War Office wished to get in touch with him, it could insert an ad in the "Personal" column of the New York Times, addressed to Theodore Koerner.

IN CARE OF HITLER'S PAPER

Sure enough, three weeks later, there appeared an ad in the "personal" column of the New York Times, requesting Theodore Koerner to get in communication with his friend Sanders at P.O. Box 629, Hamburg, Germany. Rumrich wrote off to "Sanders" who queried him on the army units in the Canal Zone. As the answers checked with information already in the possession of "Sanders," the latter sent Rumrich two $20 bills and a request for confidential information about the U.S. army and navy.

When Rumrich mailed "Sanders" a copy of Infantry Drill Regulations he received back a snorty letter from "Sanders" telling him to stop sending such "junk." Later on, Rumrich says he met Karl Schleuter, a member of the S.S. Europa's crew. Schleuter had a scheme to fabricate copies of White House stationary in Hamburg, on which they would write in President Roosevelt's name, requesting the construction chief of the navy to furnish plans of the new aircraft carrier Enterprise. It was dropped because they couldn't devise a means for intercepting the plans if the construction chief complied. Schleuter, said Rumrich, flourished two $1,000 bills beneath his nose and said they would be Rumrich's if he could get him detailed information of the anti-aircraft defences in the New York metropolitan area. He did give him $5 on parting.

SEA-CAPTAIN MESSENGERS

Capt. Friske was supplied with the "copy" for the ad, with $10 to pay for its insertion, and a permit from the German Exchange control officer, allowing him to take the ten dollars out of the country.

Upon arrival in New York, Captain Friske turned the advertisement and cash over to Captain Emil Maurer, assistant marine superintendant of the North German Lloyd Line to take to the newspaper office.

Apparently the New York Times was suspicious of the ad, for a Times investigator called upon Captain Maurer before the newspaper would run the advertisement. Captain Maurer assured the investigator that the advertisement was a personal matter, unconnected with politics. It was accepted by The Times as being on the stationery of the North German Lloyd Line.

Writers of detective fiction should keep their eyes on this interesting espionage trial.

Echoes Of The "Invasion"

Complaints have been frequent that such terrifying radio personages as "The Shadow" (once, by the way, played by the talented Mr. Welles) have frightened children out of their wits, but this time it was the adults who met the hobgoblins . . . the whole performance was monstrous and cruel.—New York Herald-Tribune.

* * *

Of course it should never happen again. But we don't agree with those who are arguing that the Sunday night scare shows a need for strict government censorship of radio. . . . If so many people could be misled unintentionally . . . what could designing politicians not do?—New York World-Telegram.

* * *

The radio broadcast which caused panics in many parts of the United States by dramatizing an imaginary invasion shows how dangerous the ill-judged use of the air can be. More, it is warning of what might be the consequences of a deliberately conceived hoax for some sinister purpose.—San Francisco Chronicle.

* * *

It seems incredible that so many intelligent people scattered over the entire country could be thus misled when the proposed performance was announced a week ago and defined at least four times during presentation of the thrilling adaptation of Wells' fantastic conception of a future war. In some ways the disturbance was unfortunate, but the consensus of comment indicates how unprepared Americans would be in a similar eventuality.—Salt Lake Tribune.

* * *

The nation-wide scare brought a reaction familiar to newspapers. Newspapers, through the years, have built up a high standard of responsibility. Besides, through countless ages, it has been the habit to believe the eye rather than the ear. Sunday night's episode merely emphasizes the value of the familiar warning: "Don't believe it until you read it."—Denver Rocky Mountain News.

* * *

The Sunday night excitement came as the accidental result of too much realism in a fantastic play. Every newspaperman knows that it is dangerous to monkey with facts. When you start mixing fact and fiction you get a concoction dangerous for public consumption.—Newark, N.J., Star Eagle.

* * *

The panic of the radio audience Sunday night ought to serve as a double warning—to the radio industry to watch its step and to the listening public to be wary of believing wild rumors.—Hartford, Conn., Courant.

* * *

The program was a boner. No more, no less. . . . It shouldn't have happened. It should never happen again. . . . But censorship is a much greater danger to our country than Martian air raiders; the thought of censorship should be just as alarming as that bogeyman broadcast.—Philadelphia Record.

* * *

The (broadcast) was a piece of inexcusable and unforgiveable stupidity. . . . That sort of childish smart aleckism isn't at all humorous, and if the participants do not find themselves responsible for several deaths, they will be lucky.—Detroit Free Press.

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORCROSS

LONDON, Eng.—(By Mail)—While all the big dailies were furnished with copies, only two have published some very lively correspondence between Lord Rothermere, chief owner of the Daily Mail, and Mr. Wickham Steed, former editor of The Times.

J. E. NORCROSS

Mr. Steed wrote to Lord Rothermere deploring publication in the Daily Mail of an editorial, "based on misleading information," which might "help to bring on a European war into which Great Britain would willy-nilly be drawn."

"Why you should wish to weaken the defence of this country by encouraging Germany to attack, and, if possible, to obliterate, Czechoslovakia, is a mystery to me," Mr. Stead continued.

There was a good deal more in the same strain and Mr. Steed concluded severely: "I urge you to bethink yourself to learn the truth and to proclaim it. This is your duty as a newspaper owner and as a British peer."

Lord Rothermere replied that the more the truth about "this monstrocity of a country" became known the less chance there was that the British people would allow their government to associate itself directly or indirectly in its affairs.

"If you and your friends had their way," Lord Rothermere's letter continued, "you might provoke a war infinitely more disastrous than the Great War of 1914.

"I suppose you do know—but I should like to impress it upon you—that the day Great Britain goes to war in pursuit of some aim or design in Central Europe two of three of our most important Dominions will declare their neutrality, and by doing so will bring an immediate end to the British Empire."

What Is Your Opinion?

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Bulletin are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study brevity. A limit of 350 words must be insisted on.

On Evolution

Editor, Bulletin: Please allow me space for a reply to the letter of Mr. G. A. Anderson of October 24, entitled, "Truth Seeking Science" in which he speaks of "the authority of evolution."

In the dictionary evolution is defined as a development from simple forms. There is no evidence that the lower or simpler forms preceded the higher or more complex. The simplest forms of life, the one-celled plants and animals, are plentiful still. Why do they survive? Should they not have developed into more complex forms long since?

Why is it so many of the great scientists of the world, and thinking people generally, reject evolution? The answer is: Because there is no evidence that can really satisfy any intelligent seeker after the truth. If evolution were true, and species were changing into other and higher species, thousands of the intermediate links would be in evidence. In all the living fauna on the earth, not one missing link has been found.

Contrary to Mr. Anderson's statement, there is no concrete evidence for this ridiculous theory.

Listen to what two great scientists have to say about evolution: Dr. J. Ambrose Fleming, D.Sc., F.R.S., of London University, discussing the theory that man and the simians have a common, though remote ancestor, says: "This theory is an unverified hypothesis; it has a most slender basis of fact and has been rejected by some of the most eminent naturalists."

Professor Haeckel, the great German evolutionist, said before he died: "Most modern investigators of science have come to the conclusion that the doctrine of evolution, and particularly Darwinism, is an error, and cannot be maintained."

Darwin, himself, admitted the absence of proof when he said, "We cannot prove a single species has been changed." (The Life and Letters of Charles Darwin, Vol. I, page 210).

It is extremely unfortunate that Mr. Anderson is so out-of-date with his facts on the subject of evolution and his knowledge of the Bible. I hope he and many others may have learned something from this letter.

Doubts Peace Permanent

Editor, Bulletin: Apparently Hitler is now demanding the return of the colonies which Germany lost after the Great War. Under these circumstances it would, I think, be well to critically examine the policy followed by Mr. Chamberlain which seems to assert: "Give the dictators and aggressors what they want, then they will be satisfied and not start or threaten to start another war." In this connection the last few years supply some experience which cannot be overlooked

In 1931 Japan invaded and seized Manchuria. The League of Nations did not take measures to hold this aggression. Today Japan is invading and laying ruin to the whole of China and her militarist rulers have ambitions to conquer and control the whole Far East. Did the policy of letting Japan have its own way stop war here?

In 1936 Italy invaded and seized Ethiopia. Today she conducts a war of invasion in Spain, is seeking control of the Mediterranean and backs Hitler in his acts of aggression. Did the policy of letting Italy have its way curb her ambitions or reduce the war danger?

Yesterday Hitler was allowed to militarize the Rhineland. He was allowed to seize Austria. Today he is also conducting a war of invasion in Spain. He demanded (and got) the Sudeten area under the pretext of "saving" the Sudeten Germans. Today, encouraged and strengthened by his successes, his paid agents incite civil strife in those countries that have German minorities, thus paving the way for the "saving" of more Germans. Today Hitler demands the return of Germany's former colonies. Today Hitler works desperately for economic, political and military control of all central Europe, and for a free hand to attack the Soviet Union. Did the policy of giving in to Hitler aid the peace of the world?

History, logic, current events, everything cries out against this policy of concessions to aggressors. Concessions do not bring peace, they bring WAR. Every concession gives the dictator so much more prestige in his own country. Every concession makes him so much stronger in an economic and military sense. Every concession only helps to destroy the peace of the world and to further endanger the existing democracies.

Those who rang bells on Sept. 30 thinking that peace is here at last may yet wring their hands in suffering and despair brought about by war.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Today is the 79th birthday of Holy Trinity church, Winnipeg. It was on Nov. 4, 1868, that the church was opened. Its history is interesting.

In 1867 Bishop Machray deputed Archdeacon McLean to organize a parish in the village of Fort Garry (it was not Winnipeg until 1873). The first services were held in the court-house, a small building near Fort Garry, and afterwards services were held in "Red River hall," near the corner of Portage and Main. The first church edifice was opened on Nov. 4, 1868, a simple and unpretentious building, situated at the corner of Portage and Garry.

The growth of the parish and congregation was most encouraging, and in 1870 the original structure was greatly enlarged. In 1873 Archdeacon McLean was elected bishop of the new diocese of Saskatchewan and he was succeeded as rector by Rev. J. D. O'Meara. In 1875 Canon Grisdale of St. John's college was in charge of the parish and during this year a new church, seating 450, was erected. It was necessary to elect a new rector and the choice fell on a young clergyman of Montreal, Rev. O. Fortin, and on Nov. 11, 1875, he was inducted as rector.

In 1879 lots were obtained at the corner of Graham and Donald, the present site, and there a frame church was erected. This was replaced in 1884 by the present beautiful edifice.

On Sunday, Nov. 25, 1917, Archdeacon Fortin preached his farewell sermon. In the autumn of 1918 Rev. W. J. Southam, of Toronto, succeeded Archdeacon Fortin as rector. Mr. Southam resigned in 1926, and in April, 1927, Rev. Canon C. Carruthers of Holy Trinity, Edmonton, was called to be rector.

The owner of a high powered car was being driven along at a steady forty-five. For some time the hooting of a baby car behind had irritated him.

"Accelerate," he said to the chauffeur.

The car jumped from forty-five to sixty, but still came the steady honk-honk of the baby car.

"Give her all she's got," said the owner of the car.

His chauffeur stepped on the gas, and the speedometer was soon flickering between seventy-five and eighty. But still the honk-honk persisted.

"Pull up," said the baffled owner.

The big car stopped and the baby car drew up just behind.

"Look here!" yelled the angry owner, "do you want to pass?"

"No!" shouted the man in the small car. "I just wanted to get my starting handle out of your luggage grid."

He was seeking a seat on the senior board, he explained because he understood there was the possibility that an attempt would be made to merge school board and city council. Mr. Bowcott favored a housing plan for Edmonton stating there was a shortage of 5,000 houses in this city at present.

School Board

F. Armour Ford, Citizens' Committee: Seeking re-election Mr. Ford stressed the necessity of pressing for increased grants from the provincial government toward education costs. The provincial government lays down education requirements; makes education up to a certain age compulsory; fixes the course of studies; the standard of equipment and legislates for a minimum wage for school teachers and yet only pays seven per cent of the education costs of the city of Edmonton. He contended the provincial government should assume a greater share of these costs, pointing to the fact that in Britain the government paid 54 per cent and in the United States the federal government assumed 30 per cent of education costs.

PROVINCE MUST HELP

Increased expenditures cannot be undertaken until the province assumes its rightful share of these costs, continued Mr. Ford.

He was opposed to increased expenditures except to provide greater physical culture facilities and equipment for the new "enterprise" course. He was also opposed to provision of free text books to all grades, but made it clear that children of parents in needy circumstances would be provided with necessary text books. "There is no case in the city," stated Mr. Ford, "of a child being prevented from getting his education because his parents could not buy text books."

Last year free text books cost $4,073; this year a similar amount will be spent on this service in addition to which all classroom supplies—pencils, paper, erasers, etc., are supplied free to all pupils.

Mrs. W. J. Ross, Citizens' Committee:. Text books are provided free to all pupils in grades one to eight, and a loaning plan adopted by the school board makes text books for the higher grades available to children of parents unable to purchase them. No deserving pupil in Edmonton's schools have been handicapped through inability to purchase text books.

SIGHT-SAVING

Mrs. Ross outlined special activities of the school board in providing a sight saving class for children with poor vision or who were in danger of losing their sight; special classes for sub-normal children in which they were taught rug-making, woodwork, weaving, knitting, basketry, etc., and as much academic work as they could absorb.

Another service provided, she stated, was that of a visiting teacher who attended the homes of students unable to attend school through crippled condition or maladies which prevented them from attending class-rooms.

ASKS THIRD TERM

She appealed for re-election for a third term, and stressed the necessity of having a woman on the board to deal with problems which could be handled more satisfactorily by her than by the board as a whole.

W. G. McConachie, Citizens' Committee: A newcomer to municipal politics, Mr. McConachie said he consented to run on the Citizens' Committee slate when it was represented to him that it was that body's object to have candidates in the field who would represent a fair cross-section of all classes and districts in the city. "It is not wisdom for a new aspirant for office to bring forward spacious promises of changed policy," stated Mr. McConachie, "but rather to be determined to bring to bear on the problems which arise in administration an unbiased judgment and to support only that whcih is in the best interests of all the citizens. He intimated he was opposed to heavy capital expenditures, and promised to keep general expenditure as low as possible commensurate with efficient service.

Archibald Richardson, Labor-C.C.F. "We think that the representatives of the workers should have an opportunity to serve on the civic boards," he said.

PLATFORM

His party, he said, had a platform of plans which were of immediate need for the "slums or semi-slums of this city." The C.C.F. had an educational committee which would aid its representatives in their work on the city school board. He would be delighted to attend any community meeting to give an account of things which he planned to do on the school board.

"I stand firm for collective bargaining and keeping up the level of income for the workers," he said.

W. H. Thornton, Labor-C.C.F. He had lived in Edmonton all his life, 33 years, was educated at Norwood, Highlands and Victoria High schools. He was "glad to be associated on the Labor ticket with the others on that ticket," and sought office to relieve some of the needs of the poorer classes.

"Politics is the science of government and we of the Labor groups have studied the science of government so that, when we get into power, we won't have hitches between the civic, provincial and federal administrations," he said.

He advocated free text books for all grade 9 pupils, stating this was the only grade in the intermediate section not so supplied. Grade 9, he said, had come to be the minimum standard of education required for entrance to most vocations.

BOOKS WILL BE BOUGHT

"Suppose the mill rate is raised," he said. "The school books are going to be bought and it is just a case of those who can afford it paying a little larger share of their cost.

"Education is a social responsibility. An educated community is a social asset and eventually will be worth money even if the mill rate does go up."

New Envoy

Formerly foreign minister in the Hirota cabinet in 1936-1937, Hachiro Arita, above, again returns to that post in the Japanese cabinet of Premier Fuminaro Konoye. He succeeds General Kazuschige Ugaki, who resigned last month because of differences of opinion with the army over establishment of the China board to administer Japan's policies in China.

SALLY RAND FOUND GUILTY TWO CHARGES

Noted Fan Dancer Convicted Of Assault and Battery

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4—Sally Rand, fan and bubble dancer, was convicted on two counts of assault and battery by a municipal court Thursday in connection with an attack upon a candid camera photographer and his young woman companion.

The dancer was charged with biting and scratching Ray Stanford and Hazel Drain after they took close-up pictures of her while she performed on a theatre stage.

Municipal Judge C. A. Ballreich instructed the jury of nine women and three men that "The right of privacy does not exist where a person has become so prominent that by his very prominence he has dedicated his life to the public."

Social Credit Fine But Province Unable To Handle: Claimed

VICTORIA, Nov. 4—Social Credit "is one of the finest economic plans ever evolved by the mind of man but it cannot be handled by a provincial legislature," Capt. C. R. Bull, Liberal, South Okanagan, told members in the British Columbia legislature Thursday.

He had discussed Social Credit with people in his constituency, Capt. Bull said.

CAMROSE WILL LOSE POPULAR CRAIG FAMILY

Physician Was Manager of Baseball and Hockey Clubs For 10 Years

CAMROSE, Nov. 4.—Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Craig will leave Camrose Sunday to live at Mayerthorpe, Alta., 100 miles northwest of Edmonton. The doctor and family came to Camrose 20 years ago from Sedgewick, where he had carried on his practise as physician and surgeon as well as running a 20-bed hospital for a number of years.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig originally came from Ontario, the former being born at Lansdowne, in the Thousand Islands. Mrs. Craig was born at Port Hope on Lake Ontario. The doctor took his high school course at Kingston Collegiate and entered Queen's University, graduating in 1909. While in university his hobby was athletics. He won a silver cup at Royal Military College sports in 1905, for the half-mile sprint in two minutes and one second, and is informed this record has not been broken on that track since.

MANAGED CLUBS

Soon after coming to Camrose, he entered the athletic life and managed the baseball and hockey clubs for ten years. Though his experience and efforts, Camrose always had top-notch teams. Beside sport his hobby was big game hunting, and one of his trophies, a Rocky Mountain goat which is considered one of the best to come out of the mountains.

Professionally Dr. Craig specializes in surgery and gynecology having post graduated from New York hospitals.

On the staff of St. Mary's hospital, Camrose, he lectured to the nurses on surgery, gynaecology, throat, eye, ear and nose, as well as pathology. He also has donated each year a gold medal to the nurse winning the highest marks in exams and general proficiency in practical work. One year ago, Dr. Craig was appointed by the C.P.R. as surgeon on the Empress of Canada.

In locating at Mayerthorpe the doctor once more feels that he is getting into the old west spirit where every person is on his toes and a booster. The town has provided a private hospital for the winter until they build their new 15-bed hospital next spring.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig have been entertained with many farewell evenings. The Sisters of St. Mary's hospital and nursing staff entertained at a banquet and made presentations. A smoker was given by the business men, and a banquet by the curling club.

Mrs. Craig was active in musical as well as in church functions. She is a member of the Eastern Star where she occupied the matron's chair and last year was appointed to represent her lodge in one of the highest positions in the order.

They have two children, Vernon and Mildred. Both received their public and high school training in Camrose. Vernon, graduating from the Camrose Normal, taught for three years, after which he entered Queen's University where he is preparing to follow the footsteps of his father in the medical profession. Mildred entered the Misericordia hospital, Edmonton, and graduated as a nurse. She is at the present time in the Barrhead hospital.

Dr. Craig was active with the B.P.O.E. lodge here. He was a charter member of B.P.O.E. No. 70 and is a past exalted ruler. He is a staunch Liberal and polled his first vote in 1896 for Sir Wilfrid Laurier who was elected premier of Canada. The doctor proudly states "that he has never had any reason to vote otherwise than for Liberalism."

WESTLOCK

Remembrance Day Fetes Are Now Prepared

Preparations for celebration of Remembrance Day in Westlock district are complete. Memorial services will be held at 11:00 a.m. in the U.F.A. Hall, Westlock, and the Community Hall, Clyde. Banquets and dances will be held in the evening at Westlock, Jarvie and Sunniebend while members of Clyde Canadian Legion will follow the morning service with a lunch and general meeting for discussion of ex-servicemen's problems, concluding the day's activities with a whist drive and dance.

All points announce their poppy campaign to be well in hand and record returns are expected. Rural schools not provided for in previous years should get in touch with the nearest Legion secretary immediately to ensure that the committee's slogan of "A poppy in every home" may not fall short of fullfilment.

Farmers Rest As Snow Falls

Light snow storms here, while making country roads decidedly slippery, have been welcomed by farmers as they took a brief respite from watching bush and ground fires. For the past few weeks, the situation has been serious as ground fires crept into hay meadows and spruce groves for some miles north of Westlock, destroying stacks and causing anxiety on every hand.

ESKIMOS MAKE DEBUT WITH 2-1 WIN

SPORTS BULLETIN

Outplay Saskatoon In Exhibition Clash

Shorts Purcell and Haxby Score for Edmonton—Game Produces Rough, Tough Hockey—Esks Give Promise

BY JACK KELLY

Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

EDMONTON'S new Eskimos made their initial hockey debut here last night with a sparkling 2-1 victory over Saskatoon Quakers in a game that was rough and tough enough to have been a western playoff instead of just a pre-season exhibition. Despite a slim attendance as a result of the first heavy snow storm of the winter, both teams turned on a cheery dispay of heat.

It was Edmonton's own native pucksters who scored both Eskimo goals. Shorts Purcell got the opening counter of the game and Haxby got the other one on a smart passing attack with Bobby Crossland. Neilson was credited with the Saskatoon tally.

But if it was home-grown Edmonton hockey talent that did the scoring it was largely imports that laid down a bruising defence and kept the Quaker forwards at bay. Ettinger wrecked more men last night than Louisville Lou ever did. He hit attackers like the Transcontinental Limited. Benny Klingspoon, Edmonton's own, formed an able mate for Ettinger in the matter of discouraging the opposition. Then Pearson and Matson, importees, also gave an impressive display as a defence pair.

GOALIES RELIEVED

Don Stuart and Scotty Munro alternated in the Eskimos' goal, Don working for the first half of the game and Scotty for the second. Both gave splendid displays—but both undoubtedly felt genuine relief at having a real hard-hitting defence in front of them for the first time. The one goal that Saskatoon hung up was charged against Don Stuart, but it was highly questionable. There was considerable doubt as to whether it had actually gone in or not.

The Eskimos definitely looked like the sort of team the fans will get hot about. They out-skated and out-played the Quakers throughout the greater part of the game, although it was their first game together as a club while the Saskatoon squad has had three games already this season. With another couple of weeks of drilling, Coach Clem Loughlin will have his team setting a sizzling pace.

Play had only been under way a minute and a half when Shorts Purcell got the puck near his own blue line and sifted through the Quaker forces single-handed to pull Goalie Dinsley out and flip the disc into the netting. It was a honey all the way.

PROTESTED GOAL

Three minutes later Neilson of Saskatoon was credited with the goal that was hotly protected. It may have been a tally, but it wasn't convincing to the majority of fans.

It wasn't until just before the end of the second period that the Eskimos banged in what proved to be the payoff goal. The line of Morgan, Haxby and Crossland started the attack from their own blue stripe. Haxby went up the left boards and passed to Crossland at centre just before the Saskatoon blue line was reached. Crossland slowed up and carried the rubber over the blue while Haxby raced in behind the Quakers' defence. Crossland flipped the puck forward between the defencemen, Haxby got it and drove it under Goalie Dinsley's arm for the tally.

MANY PENALTIES

Penalties came thick and fast throughout the game, no less than 12 of them being meted out—six to each club. Eskimos were awarded a penalty shot in the third period when Marchant of the Quakers stopped a shot with his hands while on his knees in the Saskatoon goal. Goalie Dinsley had been pulled out of his citadel at the time by cyclone attack. Alex McSporran was elected to fire the penalty but Dinsley stopped it.

LINEUPS

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Note To Fans

They'll Do

West Cleans Up

DEAR Fans: Last night we opened the hockey season here. It was too bad you didn't come out to the Arena, on account of it was hockey that you could get hot about as the Edmonton Sport Booster Club's new Eskimos under Coach Clem Loughlin handed the powerful Saskatoon Quakers as neat a trimming as you are likely to see around any rink. There was nothing flukey about that win. The Eskimos were definitely the better club last night.

Me, I know how irresistable an arm chair, radio and fireplace are on the night of the first heavy snow of the winter, so I wasn't surprised when you stayed at home. By the same token I'm not worried about what sort of crowds our new deal in hockey is going to draw—not after the way those 1,500 fans that did come out roared and howled. It is many years since I've seen and heard the customers quite so hot about senior hockey in these parts. They used to act that way back in the old pro days when every game drew four thousand or more. There'll be crowds like that again as soon as the Alberta Senior League gets underway.

If you are one of the hundreds who have watched the Eskimos during their practices, your eyes would have bulged out of your head last night. The team looked twice or three times as good as during any drill. This squad just isn't a practice club. They don't get going until the chips are down.

Take for instance Romeo Martell, Pearson and Matson, three of our imports. They looked pretty disappointing at times in practices, but last night they were playing heads-up hockey and they look as if they are going to be mighty handy lads to have around when hockey games are to be played. Martell came with a reputation as an ice-burner. Against the Quakers he turned loose a few bursts of speed that proved he really can travel. Pearson and Matson both did a nice job as a defence pair.

You Must See Our Peter Hit 'Em!

BUT you folks will simply have to see our new citizen—Pete Ettinger, do his stuff. He's the toughest defence man that has worn an Edmonton sweater in many a year. But Pete wasn't just right last night—some of the forwards he hit actually got up and played again. However it's early in the season and Pete will undoubtedly be able to get his timing down better in the next few weeks. When he does they'll be running a regular schedule of ambulances between the Arena and the hospitals.

I'm willing to bet you coffee and cakes that some of those Quakers that Ettinger hit last night are still feeling the effects today—as far back as the third and fourth generation.

But Peter has an able assistant in his business of plain and fancy mayhem. Benny Klingspoon partners with him behind the Eskimo blue line and Benny is the bustingest young feller you'll see in many a day. His face looks like he was sucking lemons until an opposition forward shows up. Then his pan lights up with a smile from ear to ear and he piles into that guy like a kid piles into a dish of ice cream.

Western Horses Get It Back

IN RECENT years western Canada horse racing has attracted stables from eastern Canada which have accounted for considerable purse money, but in the fall of the year the westerners have usually evened matters up by shipping to the Toronto tracks and racing for the eastern purses.

The 66-day prairie circuit came to an end ta Chinook Park, Calgary, on September 5 this year, but the Toronto autumn meetings did not get under way until the opening of Thorncliffe Park on the 12th. This seven day session was followed by meets at Woodbine, Long Branch and Dufferin. Many well known western owners took advantage of the 28 days of sport in the east and, after the final race at Dufferin on October 22, had earned a total of $17,750.

It was a banner year for the owners from the prairies and the $17,750 surpassed the earnings of eastern owners in any one year on the western tracks. These horses that cleaned up in the east are the average type of performer racing in the west. The majority of them took part not only in the Winnipeg sport but continued through the season at the fairs of Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina and then went on to the late Alberta meetings.

The outstanding westerner was undoubtedly Golden Gower, owned by the Whittier Park Stock Farm of Winnipeg, which started seven times in Toronto and won five races. The son of Craigangower proved practically unbeatable over a long route. This horse, which incidentally was the winner of the 1937 Alberta Derby, earned a total of $2,600 in purses from the easterners. Hainault Maid, owned by Major F. F. Montague of Winnipeg, and trained by the veteran Andy Robinson of Edmonton, scored the greatest triumph of any western bred horse in years when she accounted for the 29th running of the Durham Cup Handicap at Woodbine on October 1 and earned in that one race $1,560.

Scottish Loop Leaders Facing Weak Opponents

Celtic and Rangers Have Easy Tasks On Saturday

GLASGOW, Nov. 4.—Celtic and Rangers, joint leaders of the Scottish Football League, appear to have easy tasks Saturday, but other contests find closely-matched teams battling for points.

Queen of the South opposes Heart of Midlothian at home in the outstanding match. A week ago the clubs were tied for third place behind the Glasgow squads but while the Dumfries team overcame Kilmarnock at Palmerston Park, Hearts fell to Queen's Park.

With 19 points, Queen of the South trail the Celts and Rangers by one point and will fight to maintain a challenging position. The Southerners, although weak in attack, have a splendid defence that should hold Tommy Walker and Art Black, Hearts noted international forwards.

RANGERS AWAY

Rangers are away to Albion Rovers who have gleaned only six points to date, and Celtic is opposed in Glasgow by Ayr United.

Clyde and Motherwell, tied with Hearts in the league table, both play on foreign soil. The former meets Queen's Park at Hampden Park. Motherwell may find Partick Thistle a handful.

Few critics favor Aberdeen against Hamilton Academicals although the game is being played on the Dons' ground at Pittodrie Park. Hibernians and Falkirk, two closely-matched clubs meet on the former's enclosure in Edinburgh.

Cowdenbeath's 1-0 victory over East Fife, Scottish cupholder, last week-end put them in front in the second division. They face another hard battle Saturday, opposing St. Bernards in the Scottish capital.

Louis, John Henry Settle Details of Championship Scrap

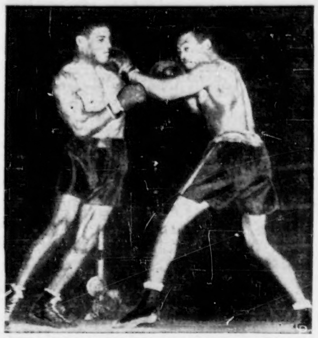
The pair, who will be the first to meet in an all-negro heavyweight championship fight in United States, did everything except sign the official contract. They will attend to that Nov. 25.

AFTER LEWIS

Meantime the New York State Athletic Commissioners want to speak to John Henry, who recently threatened to sue them for a bundle of money because they vacated his 175-pound title. John Henry undoubtedly will assure the commissioners he was only fooling.

Louis will receive 40 per cent. of th gate, which should run around $100,000, and John Henry will get 17½ per cent. John Henry had to agree to fight exclusively for Mike Jacobs for five years in the unlikely event he beats Joe.

John Henry Connects!



In the first all-colored championship bout staged in any boxing division in 34 years, John Henry Lewis, king of the light-heavyweights, turned back the challenge of Al Gainer, New Haven bricklayer, by gaining a 15-round decision in their title match at New Haven, Connecticut. The champ gained the decision by finishing strong. The picture shows Lewis landing a wicked left to the challenger's head, with the latter seemingly falling in to meet the blow. Getting the shot from another angle is the photographer seen in the centre.

Pitt's All-American Grid Star Shows Poetic Streak

Literary Seed Sown by Gene Tunney Begins Bearing Fruit as Marshall Goldberg Writes Saga of the Scrub

By HENRY McLEMORE

British United Press, Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The little literary seed that Gene Tunney planted in the sports world when he was heavyweight champion seems to be bearing fruit at last.

TUNNEY

GOLDBERG

As you remember, Tunney tore into his Shakespeare with the same earnestness that he did his punching bag. He took his Rubiyat with his rubdown, and the choice volumes on his shelves were as well thumbed as his opponents' eyes.

For a long time it appeared he was sowing his seeds of culture on barren ground, and all that he would ever reap would be cruel jibes. Now, years after, the seeds he planted have germinated and the stalks of culture are sprouting amidst the athletes.

LATEST RECRUIT

The latest recruit to the literary ranks is Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh's All-American halfback. Known to sports writers as "Mad Marshall," and to his team-mates as "Biggie," Goldberg perhaps would prefer to be addressed simply as "Laureate". His latest effort, a saga of the scrub (football players, not stunted trees) is titled "Red Dawg, Forgotten Grid Man." It was published in the "Poet's Corner" of the Pittsburgh Press, (the Bulldog edition, anyway) and places him in the front rank of young American poets named Goldberg who plays left halfback for Pittsburgh's Panthers.

"A great little fellow,
This carrot-topped guy,
The mighty Red Dawg,
Of Newcastle High.

"When he graduated
And went to Pitt,
His public thought
Success he'd hit.

He was shifted to end,
His freshman year,
But the struggle was futile,
Though very sincere."

These three verses will give you a general idea of the poem. They also offer a new slant on Marshall. Who would have ever thought, to watch him whirl down the field for touchdowns, that his head was brimming with poetry? Or that during a huddle at a crucial point in a game, he probably was writing an ode to Jock Sutherland, beginning:

"O Coach Jock Sutherland,
Thou breath of autumn's being,
Thou from whose unseen presence the signals come
From the bench, like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing."

Goldberg has undoubtedly been influenced by the works of an earlier sports poet, Henry Armstrong, the lightweight and welterweight boxing champion. While he was training for Barney Ross and Lou Ambers, Henry spent many a happy hour composing and completed what many consider his masterpiece, a philosophical study of how a fighter feels.

Who knows but what the great American novel will eventually come from a bowler now knocking down pins in the obscurity of a Brooklyn alley, or from a wrestler or a lacrosse player, even.

Truly, Tunney has not lived in vain.

Jacobs Chuckles as Jai Alai Reduces Income Tax

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Mike Jacobs, who is known as a man with a keen eye for a dollar, has discovered the perfect scheme for reducing his excess profits from the prize fight industry and in a roundabout way, giving the income tax collector a licking.

Mike, along with Lee Shubert, the theatrical man, is putting up the money for those dazzling exhibitions of Jai Alai (pronounced hi-li) seen nightly and Saturday matinees at the Hippodrome. It's been going on for a couple of months now, and the nightly loss is a satisfying $400 or better.

The nightly "nut," including salaries of the swarthy men who bang the ball about, advertising and hire of the hall, is $1,200, and the receipts have averaged around $800. At this rate it will, of course, take some time for the proprietors to get back their original investment of $50,000.

So pleased are Jacobs and Shu-

'Peg Students Charge Bombers With Rowdyism

Alleged to Have Crashed College Dance

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4.—The Manitoba Student publication at University of Manitoba, Thursday charged members of The Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Regina Roughriders rugby teams with "rowdyism" at the annual Pumpkin Ball of the college.

The students' paper claimed the players last Saturday night "crashed" the dance following the Bombers-Roughriders rugby game which Winnipeg won 13-0.

Joseph B. Ryan, manager of Bombers, attending a supper dance in another part of the hotel where the students' function was held, said it was news to him that players had caused trouble. He would make no further comment until the club executive had been informed of the matter.

Reg Threlfall, coach of Bombers, said he had "heard rumors" but that was all.

William T. Cave, president of the University of Manitoba students' union council, said the "same thing" happened last year and students had been blamed for the rowdyism.

MAULED DOORMAN

The Manitoban in its editorial said Winnipeg and Regina players forced entrance to the ballroom, adding: "Doormen opposing their passage were badly mauled and their appearance on the dance floor was graced by an immediate display of fisticuffs with appropriate language."

Commerce Students Capture Freshman's Hoop Championship

The Commerce students captured the championship of the Freshman's Basketball league last night by defeating the Arts hoopsters 44-16.

Some promising material for the Varsity team was uncovered in Dave McElroy and Brick Youngie, high-scoring members of the Commerce squad. Youngie scored 14 of the Commerce points, while McElroy accounted for 12.

HAWKS SCUTTLE AMERKS: BRUINS TRIM LEAFS

King Kong Clayton Ready To Bounce Davis Tonight

PROMOTER MIKE CUTCHER and King Kong Clayton have turned on the steam and the hot jet is aimed straight at Dandy Dizzy Davis who is slated to get a hot reception when he steps into the ring at the Memorial hall tonight. Davis will wrestle Clayton, the ebony muscleman whom Davis has been side-stepping for two weeks. The bout is main event fare on Friday's card.

Some time ago when Clayton first hurled his challenge at Davis, the latter flatly refused to accept the bout. King Kong continued to burn up the telegraph wires in a vain attempt to meet up with the Texan grappler. Finally, Promoter Cutcher decided the issue when he threatened to bar Davis from the big top. This action changed Davis' tune.

And Davis is not taking the Clayton challenge lightly. He is drilling steadily in order to be at his peak when he bounces up against the strongman. The most irksome point of the whole argument is that the wrestling fan has established Clayton a hot favorite to drop Davis from a front runner to an also ran.

Bob Cummings and Spinner Thomas will be the supporting pair in a robust semi-windup. Cummings, as durable as they come, will have his hands full against the Thomas trickster.

A preliminary will open the card at 9:00 p.m.

Three Ex-Maroons Headed For Barons

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—Dave Trottier, Alan Shields and Gus Marker, all veterans, appear to be headed for the minor hockey leagues.

The three, all that remains of Montreal Maroons, have been waived from the league. They alone went unsold when Maroon players were placed on the block following surrender of the team franchise.

Now negotiations are underway for their sale to Cleveland Barons of the Int-Am League.

Ernie Hempey Picks All-Star Grid Club From Eastern Teams

MONTREAL, Nov. 4—From 10 seasons in senior football, Captain Ernie Hempey of Montreal Nationals of the Ontario Rugby Football Union comes up with his pick of an all-star Eastern Canada team from the hundreds of men he has played with and against. Hempey recently announced his intention of retiring from football after this season.

Hempey started with Montreal Wheelers in 1929, playing with the Big Four team until 1934. Then he played two seasons with Toronto Balmy Beach of the O.R.F.U., returned to Montreal to play with the renamed Indians of the Big Four last year, and switched to Nationals, a new entry, this season.

Hempey named Ormond Beach of Sarnia Imperials, the Kansas giant killed just before the start of the 1938 season in an explosion at Sarnia, Ont., to the flying wing post on his all-star team. For half-backs he chose Gordie Perry, once called the "galloping ghost" in his days with the Wheelers, Hugh (Bummer) Stirling of Imperials, and Johnny Ferraro of Nationals.

Hempey picked Ab Box of Beacher for quarter back and Ernie Cox of Hamilton Tigers for snapback. Tiny Herman of Ottawa Rough Riders and Alex Denman of Tigers were named at inside-wing; Brian Timmis of Tigers ad Gil Putnam of Imperials at middle; and Jimmy Simpson of Tigers and Len Hutton of Nationals at outside.

Weather Man Gives Calgary Gridders Break

Winnipeg's Attack May Bog Down in Snow

CALGARY, Nov. 4.—It may be tough going for the Calgary Bronks and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the first game of the Western Football Conference final here Saturday.

Cronin

A sharp turn in the weather late today dimmed the prospect for a dry field at Mewata Stadium but Calgary is noted for quick changes and the sun may shine again when the starting whistle blows Saturday. If the game is played on a wet field it will be a decided break for Bronks, hampering Bombers' vaunted aerial attack.

Last night the weather gave the Bronks a rest after many nights of intensive drill for the championship battle. Early in the evening snow and rain swept the Stadium grounds and a scheduled workout was called off.

CRONIN SATISFIED

His starting lineup will remain a mystery until after game time. Followers however, expected him to name the following starters:

"Plug" Mitchell at snap; Jack Lawrence and Al Hoptowit, guards; Bob Cosgrove and Dick Haughian, tackles; Keith Gibson and Larry Haynes, ends; Bob Campbell, quarter; John Rosano, Paul Rowe, Jimmy Gilkes and Johnny Sullivan, halfbacks. Subs: Hal Harrison, Captain Ed Rorvig, Gerry Morrison, Chet Hagen, Charlie Harrison, Bob Harrison, Bob Hudson, Archie Ritchie, and Buz Buzzard.

Seat sale was reported brisk at downtown ticket offices today. The game starts at 2:30 p.m., M.S.T.

Spotlighting The Sport Girl

The Foothills Ladies' Basketball League of Calgary, which was the centre of considerable trouble last spring, has announced its opening games for the coming season next Wednesday evening. The majority of last season's managers and players will be in the new lineups.

Miss Yvonne Dingley, who has been a resident of Calgary for several months, has returned to her home on Vancouver Island. Miss Dingley has been subjected to much criticism from Ontario, as to her ability and the Empire Games trip to Australia, but after meeting her personally at Clarke Stadium on Labor Day, though the trip subject was not mentioned, we feel that she has been unjustly newspaperized.

Will other universities follow the lead of Northwestern of Chicago, where a bulletin board ultimatum sets the deadline hour for girls to be in their dormitories on Sunday night at 8.30 o'clock? College authorities hope to end that "Blue Monday" feeling in classes. What next to take the joy out of life?

Roxy Atkins sends the ten rules of sport to a Toronto sheet. Here they are: 1. Thou shalt not quit. 2. Thou shalt not alibi. 3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning. 4. Thou shalt be a good loser. 5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage. 6. Thou shalt not ask odds. 7. Give thine opponent the shade. 8. Do not underestimate or over estimate thyself. 9. Remember that the game is the thing, and he who thinketh otherwise is no true sportsman. 10. Honor the game thou playeth, for he who playeth the game straight and hard, wins even though he loses.

After expounding such rules, Roxy Atkins, then secretary of the Ontario "Waafers," forgets them, attends the provincial meeting and lets out a string of comments and charges that have rather upset athletes in general throughout the dominion. She apparently wanted the meeting to forward a charge of deliberate falsification of a certain athlete's zone trial records for the dominion meeting to consider, but advisors at the branch meeting will tone the charge down considerably. And we surmise that when the charges are proven ill-spoken that action will be taken to deal with Atkins, at least from a "Waafer" standpoint.

It should be remembered that zone trials were voted upon by the Waafers and accepted; that all aspirants for the Australian trip had a chance to appear. It is understood that Roxy Atkins did not approve of the zone trials, and thought that previous record should secure her another trip.

Roxy Atkins has been secretary of the Ontario branch and it has been newspaper talk for some time that she would refuse the office again and wanted the presidency of the Ontario branch. When the election took place she was given the second vice-presidency for this coming year. She has been on at least two of these long trips, if our information is correct, and failed both times in competition on her hurdling specialty. Ordinary observers would naturally think it was about time to try out somebody else; to share on these trip privileges.

The more we read, the more we hear of it all, it seems as if certain Ontarioites wanted to rule the entire roost and others come second to them on any sport rights or privileges. Though we are pleased to say that several of our eastern correspondents have already cleared themselves to us of being connected with that clique.

Winnipeg in Top Condition For Grid Battle

Russ Rebholz Only Player Expected Miss Game

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4—Winnipeg Blue Bombers entrain for Calgary this morning in the best physical condition they have known since early September.

Threlfall

Bombers, victors last Saturday over Regina Roughriders in a sudden-death Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final, meet Carl Cronin's Calgary Bronks Saturday in the first of a two-game, total point series for the western championship. Second game will be played here November 12.

Winnipeg haven't been at full strength since they dropped a 7-0 decision to Regina last September 12. Saturday, however, they'll be close to top man-power. Quarterback Art Stevenson and halfback Wayne Sheley are expected back and inside Herb Perschel is ready. Only halfback Russ Rebholz, former University of Wisconsin star, may miss the game. He injured his side in the Regina game and it has not responded to treatment.

BOIVIN TO PLAY

Stevenson is expected to start at quarterback and will replace Bill Boivin in the Bombers backfield. If Rebholz is unable to play, Boivin will replace him.

COACH PLEASED

Coach Reg Threlfall is highly pleased with his two battering bees, Bivin and Andy Beiber, and Thursday said Boivin would see lots of action Saturday even if Rebholz was fit to play. Together with Fritz Hanson, Boivin and Beiber have handled Winnipeg's ball carrying duties almost exclusively during the past month.

Twenty-seven players will be in the Winnipeg party although only 20 can be dressed for the game. Threlfall insisted recognition be given the boys who "played ball" all season.

With Stevenson and Sheley back in the lineup, Bombers can fire their vaunted passing attack at Bronks.

bert with the reception given the favorite Latin sport by the thrill-seekers of Sixth avenue that they plan to keep it going at least for another year. By that time they should be getting a whale of a laugh at the government's expense.

If you are not familiar with Jai Alai, it is something like handball, only the players attach a basket-like contraption to their arms that has the general effect of a slingshot, sending the old goatskin against the wall at the approximate speed of light.

DUCK BROTHER

In the advertisements they call it "The Game of Dodging Death," because if one of the players should fail to duck and get hit on the head he would be a goner. The ball is as hard as a rock, made of tightly wound rubber covered with goatskin.

It is an exciting thing to watch a time or two. The Cubans and Mexicans and Spaniards, who were brought up by the boatload to introduce the game, play with great verve. The only thing is that—well, some of the more skeptical of the Sixth avenue, or boxing set, have a sneaking suspicion. They are not fully convinced, in other words, that Jai Alai was not exposed at some time or other to the wrestling game.

Hawks Draw Largest First Game Crowd In Its History As 15,842 Fans Cheer Champions To Triumph

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Chicago Black Hawks, displaying a scoring force they seldom showed on their way to the Stanley cup last season, crushed the aged New York Americans 6-1 last night in one of the National Hockey League season's inaugural games.

The world champions played before the largest opening game crowd in Chicago's hockey history—15,842 spectators. They tallied twice in each period to exceed by one goal the total number of times they scored on the Americans throughout the regular 1937-38 season.

Cully Dahlstrom and Johnny Gottselig with a goal apiece put the Hawks out in front in the first period. In the second Art Wiebe scored unassisted and Roger Jenkins tallied with a teammate in the penalty box. Mush March and Baldy Northcott whipped in Hawks goals in the third, with Hooley Smith scoring the lone New York goal with help from Art Chapman and Dave Schriner. Only stellar work by Goalie Earl Robertson in the American net kept the Hawks from further scoring.

Before the game, Manager Gabby Harnett of Chicago Cubs baseball team made a formal presentation of the Stanley cup, emblematic of world hockey supremacy, to his long-time friend, Manager Bill Stewart of the Hawks, who also is a National League umpire.

Shoreless Bruins Outscore Leafs As Defence Sparks Great Powerhouse

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—A powerful Boston Bruins defence last night headed their attack as they downed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 in the opening game here of the National Hockey League. All Boston goals were scored by rearguards.

Minus two of their star performers, the burly Bruins earned their win before 10,000 fans. Frank Brimsek, youngster up from Providence Reds performed well in filling the shoes of Tiny Thompson, injured first string goalie. Jack Crawford, Toronto youngster who replaced the great Eddie Shore, a holdout, scored the first of his team's markers.

DRILLON GOT TROPHY

Prior to the face-off, Hon. Albert Matthews, Ontario's Lieutenant Governor, presented Gordon Drillon, Leaf winger, with the Lady Byng trophy. The former Moncton, N.B., star, who led the league in scoring last season and received only four minutes in penalties, was voted the most sportsmanlike player in the N.H.L.

The first period was scoreless. Crawford's goal came midway through the second but was soon matched by Syl Apps who scored from close in on a play with Bob Davidson. Later in the period, Apps collided with Cowley and received a cut on his forehead that required two stitches. Buzz Boll suffered a knee injury in the second session and retired for the balance of the contest.

Davidson shot the Leafs into a 2-1 lead after only 17 seconds of play in the third period but before three minutes had elapsed, Dit Clapper evened the count. It remained for another of Boston's husky defencemen, Jack Portland, to play the hero role. He fired past Goalie Turk Broda with less than seven minutes of play remaining.

Paul Haynes Goes On Scoring Spree

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—With Paul Haynes getting all their goals, Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League defeated New Haven, their Int-Am farm team, 3-1 last night in an exhibition game.

The stylish centre rapped in his first goal late in the second period to tie the score after Marcel Tremblay's tally. He added a pair within 40 seconds of each other in the last session. Toe Blake had two assists.

Derby County Expected Retain English Loop Lead

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Derby County's prospects of retaining English Football League leadership Saturday appear bright. Holder of a two-point margin over Everton, the county plays Preston North End, English cupholder.

Manager George Jobey's policy in developing young players has exceeded expectations as 10 of 34 professionals on the Derby roster are not more than 17 and provide a wealth of talent to bolster more experienced players.

Ronald Dix, inside forward in his early 20's, scored two goals for the English League against a Scottish League eleven. Dix and D. J. Astley, Welsh international centre-forward, make a formidable pair in the County's drive for the championship.

STRONG CLUB

Everton's slip against Leicester City a week ago sent Derby into undisputed leadership with 20 points. For its battle with Middlesbrough Saturday Everton is fielding the eleven unbeaten in the first eight matches of the season.

OFFER REFUSED

Sunderland this week offered Blackpool £8,000 ($38,400) for Frank O'Donnell, Scottish international, who joined the seasiders last year from Preston. It is understood the bid was refused. Meanwhile William Agar, local amateur, has been signed.

After several weeks' absence through injuries, Doherty and Herd return to Manchester City for its Second Division match against Tottenham Hotspurs. The Mancunians have shown poor form this season and are in 19th position. Fulham leading the intermediate league, should win a home encounter with Notts Forest.

Newport County, pacemaker in the third division, southern section, meet Brighton. In the northern loop Barnsley is fighting to regain second division status after one season among the junior clubs. The team is away to Carlisle United.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 4.—Dublin lawyers, representing Miss Guerda Foster of nearby Komoka will go before Irish courts today in an effort to hold up payment of a $150,000 sweepstake prize on a ticket held by Miss Dora Smith, Strathroy beauty shop operator. Miss Foster, former employee of Miss Smith, claims she has a one-quarter share in the ticket. An injunction will be sought to delay payment of the prize until the ownership issue is determined.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

HARVARD'S CRIMSON: In telling how Harvard University's color came to be crimson, Charles W. Eliot, later president of the institution, indicates that but for his personal preference, the color might have been yellow or blue. When he went to purchase six Chinese kerchiefs for the 1858 varsity crew to wear about their heads, the salesman showed him yellow and blue ones as well as the crimson ones he finally selected. MARK TWAIN'S TYPEWRITER: In his autobiography, Mark Twain asserts that the manuscript for "Tom Sawyer" was the first typed manuscript ever submitted to an editor. He used the machine only a short time, beginning in December, 1874, but he did use it long enough to establish his claim to making "the first application of the type machine to literature." The machine is on exhibition at the Mark Twain Museum, Hannibal, Mo.

E.A.C. To Oppose Winnipeg Monarchs

DASHING through three weeks of steady practice sprints with speed to burn and their plays clicking in smooth precision, Coach "Lefty" Grove's big Edmonton Athletic Club juniors crash up against formidable opposition in their first stand here when they play hosts to Winnipeg's famed Monarchs at the Arena Monday, Nov. 7, at 8:30 p.m.

Star-studded with the cream of Edmonton's crop, a quartet of stars from Saskatoon ponds and Calgary's single contribution, the E. A. C's dash out on the Arena pond Monday as one of hockey's greatest teams in junior history here.

In practices the team appears to have everything. It has speed, passing plays in great abundance, perfect balance in every department, offensively and defensively, and more than that every player is a seasoned junior star with two or more years of service.

Last night at the Arena the Edmonton Sports Booster Club paraded its new Eskimo seniors. The Loughlin-coached blubberboys skated to a grand 2-1 triumph against Saskatoon Quakers in an exhibition game. Monday hockey fans will see another of Edmonton's entries and if the way the young pucksters are flying in practice sessions means anything, the E.A.C.'s are likely to match Eskimos' triumph with another convincing and dashing display of hockey.

From the goal mouth out to the defence line and up still further to the faster skating forwards, E.A.C.'s will present a select aggregation of hockey talent. Billy Drever will be the custodian between the gas pipes and will hold that job steadily until Cliff Kilburn recovers from a leg injury. When Cliff gets back into harness, Drever and he will share the backstopping duties.

Power to burn is packed on two blue line chains as Dave Framer, of Saskatoon Chiefs last year, and Harry Pardee, the most outstanding player in junior hockey here last season, form one sturdy string.

Pug Young, one of the youngest members of last year's far west E.A.C. champs, and Bob Pentland, Calgary's gift to Edmonton hockey, form the secondary body-bouncing line.

Up in the front ranks will be the clever duo of George Agar at centre and Johnny Chad at right wing with probably Bobby Carse taking the left lane. Chad and Agar were leading point-getters for Saskatoon a year ago. Remember them, the two keep-punching boys on the Chiefs' lineup!

Bud Foley will probably pivot the second line with remaining forwards being Paul Steffes, Marsh Darling, Bob David and one other starry member.

But the Clubmen are expecting a stiff fight. It will be no pink-tea party for them as Harry Neil, considered one of the finest junior hockey coaches in the west, leads his much-heralded Monarchs into town on the week-end.

Harry had a fast young club last year. He retains most of them this season and has filled the gaps with talented material. The Monarchs are considered the team to beat as the E.A.C.'s aspire to possible Memorial Cup championship.

ROCK SLIDE IN FRASER CANYON CAUSES WRECK

Three Railwaymen Injured As C.N. Freight Train Drops 50 Feet

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—Three railwaymen were injured late last night when a transcontinental Canadian National Railway freight train hit a rock slide in the Fraser canyon, 150 miles north-east of here.

Railway officials here said the engine, tender and three cars toppled 50 feet into the canyon but were clear of the water. The [illegible] men [illegible] jumped before the freight fell over the cliff.

Injured were Engineer V. Wright, Vancouver, shock; Fireman E. Dagg, Vancouver, leg injury, and Brakeman D. Erwin, Vancouver, scalp wound. None were seriously hurt.

The [illegible] and rear-end brakeman, whose names were not given, escaped uninjured.

RUNNING LATE

Railway officials said the [illegible] freight, containing about 60 cars and en route west from eastern Canada, was running late.

The engine and tender reared up and toppled into the canyon, followed by the first three cars.

It was expected the line would be cleared within a few hours.

Canadian National Railway officials stated Friday that the east-bound train arriving in Edmonton this evening would be approximately two hours late owing to the Fraser River canyon mishap.

Heat Record

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 4. — Two heat records were broken here yesterday. The temperature at 3 p.m. yesterday at 75, the hottest Nov. 3 in 65 years of district weather records.

EYES NEVER "FLASH" OR "SPARKLE"

Our eyes cannot change their [illegible] in any way. But when we talk about eyes flashing, snapping or sparkling we are talking about the eyelids, muscles and lashes rather than about the eyes themselves. With the delicate muscles that control the lids, lashes and brows, we express many emotions such as anger, happiness, disgust, hope, terror, etc. So it is the "accessories" to the eyes rather than the eyes themselves that do all the "talking" and sparkling. The eyes go on in the same way, regardless of how we feel.

Answer: Between 1500 and 2000. There are only about 6000 in the entire heavens that can be seen by the average person, and only half of these are above the horizon at one time; and many near the horizon are obscured by the denser atmosphere and surrounding objects on the landscape.

Three-Day Peace Parley Arranged By Organizations

NINTH ANNUAL CONFERENCE IS PLANNED HERE

Meetings To Be Held Nov 11, 13, 14—Play Is Feature Event

Ninth annual Edmonton peace conference, designed to arouse public interest in the cause of peace and featuring addresses by students of world politics as well as the presentation of a peace play, will be held in the city on November 11, 13 and 14.

Having as its theme the watchword "still pursuing, learn to labor and to wait," the peace conference has been officially endorsed by 26 participating organizations.

COMMITTEE

The peace conference committee comprises Mrs. F. C. Casselman, chairman; Mrs. W. A. McConkey, Mrs. W. Rowan, Rev. J. A. MacLellan, Miss [illegible], Mrs. L. Podersky, J. McKenzie, G. E. LeBeau.

First session of the conference will take place Friday, November 11 at 8:15 p.m. in the lecture hall of First Presbyterian church when Watson Thomson, of the extension department of the University of Alberta, will be guest speaker. His subject will be "Twenty Years After." Representatives of the Alberta Youth Congress also will be heard. Mrs. Casselman will preside.

Sunday, November 13 at 3 p.m. the conference will present a special Remembrance day program at the Rialto theatre—Act 3 of "The Enemy" by Channing Pollock, a peace play, will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Doreen Rees. In the cast are Myrna Hirtle, Alwyn Meakin, Jean Cote, Gavin Bright, Elise Davidson, Fred Val Carey.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Musical program also will be presented by the Orpheus Male Voice Chorus and the Elysian Choir, David W. Vaughan being the conductor.

Presided over by Dr. George A. Macdonald of Knox United church, a luncheon session at the Corona hotel Monday, November 14 at 12.15 noon will climax the conference. The speaker will be Mrs. W. A. McConkey, Edmonton delegate to British Commonwealth Peace Congress, Glasgow, this year.

The conference, all of whose sessions are open to the public, is sponsored by various groups in the city, including women's, church, service club, teachers' and business organizations.

Chairman

DR. GEORGE A. MACDONALD of Knox United church, who will preside at a luncheon of the peace conference on Monday, November 11.

Through The Mill

Smilingly, a 101 street Chinese cafe owner served ten men who sat down in his restaurant Thursday afternoon and ordered meals ranging in price from 25 cents to 40 cents. When the meals had been eaten, the checks were gathered up by one man and presented to the cashier. "Charge it to the relief department," said the spokesman.

Something more definite than that was required by the Chinese, however, and he called in the police. Charged with fraudulently obtaining a meal, the men appeared in city police court Friday and pleaded not guilty.

They explained they had been sent to the old Immigration hall on 101 street to register for farm work, but as the day wore on, some 50 men who had not yet been registered, and who were getting hungry, asked what could be done about it. Receiving no help from the relief workers, they said, they entered various cafes, ordered meals, and then said they couldn't pay.

The ten men were all sentenced to jail, 14 days each for nine of them, and 30 days for their spokesman.

Luxurious wavy hair crowning his head in gorgeous disarray, a young man appeared in the dock and was charged with stealing a leather coat, and retaining possession of a leather coat. Testifying to the quantity of his hair were two combs listed among his personal effects when he was booked in. His story of having found the coat in an old broken wagon in an alley was a little more than the court could swallow, and he was found guilty and sentenced to three months.

When R.C.M.P. officers arrive on the scene with a warrant in their hands, and demand entrance to your house, the best thing to do is let them in. One of a pair of men charged with illegal possession of drugs faced an additional charge of obstructing a police officer because he refused admission to the police.

One of the men was sentenced to six months, plus a further six months unless he pays a fine of $200. The other chap was remanded to November 10 for sentence.

Evidently not knowing that the magistrate gives no one time to pay fines on drunk charges, a man appearing on a charge of intoxication found he must scare up $20 and costs worth of willing friends right away or spend the next 30 days in jail.

THREE PERSONS KNOCKED DOWN AS CARS SKID

Five-Year-Old Boy Injured When Autos Swerve On Icy Streets

Three persons were knocked down by autos Thursday as a result of the season's first snowfall, one of them, a five-year-old boy, being injured.

Gerald Reeves, 5, suffered a cut lip when a car driven by F. E. Kerr, 10148 102 street, skidded onto the south sidewalk of 82 avenue between 97 and 98 streets at 2 p.m. Thursday. Kerr took the boy to his home at 8317 97 street.

CAR SWINGS

A young woman giving her name as Miss Scott, 11210 95 street, was knocked down by a car driven by E. Petit, 11844 85 street, while she was walking at 101 street and 109 avenue. Petit said his auto wheels became caught in the street car tracks, then the car swung across the street, mounted the sidewalk, and struck Miss Scott. He took her home when she said she was not injured.

Miss Esther Tammers, Wetaskiwin, reported to police that she had knocked down a man walking on 99 avenue between 107 and 108 streets at 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The man, whose name was not given, said he was not hurt.

CRASHES TRUCK

August Meredith, truck driver, crashed his vehicle into another truck when he was turning south from 102 avenue to his home on 142 street, at 10.10 p.m. Thursday, and as a result of the collision is in jail charged with negligent driving.

The driver of the other truck, W. Frisk, 10568 105 street, said Meredith cut the corner and ran into his truck.

A score of accidents involving bent fenders and broken bumpers, a large percentage of them on or near the High Level bridge, were reported to police as a result of icy streets caused by the season's first heavy snow. Many more accidents were amicably settled without reports being submitted.

Pedestrians and cyclists were commended by police Thursday for being on the alert while traffic was made more hazardous by icy pavements. "They were extremely careful," said traffic men Thursday.

SNOW COVERS SECTIONS OF NTH. ALBERTA

Snow blanketed parts of Northern Alberta today while a light snow that disappeared almost as it fell, occurred overnight in Calgary district. A chill wind blew in the Lethbridge area but no snow was reported there.

Snowfall in Edmonton district totalled 5⅛ inches, giving .31 inches of precipitation. Starting yesterday, the light snow fell overnight and continued this morning with the low temperature overnight 20 above zero.

Old Man Winter wasn't kidding when he blew into town Thursday afternoon. Heavy fall of snow along with lowering temperatures indicate that he will be here until spring. Business men in the downtown section of the city were busily shovelling off walks in front of their establishments, clearing part of the 5.1 inches of snow that fell Thursday and Friday.

At no time did the mercury rise above the freezing point Thursday, highest reading it reached being 29 above at 8 and 9 a.m. Temperature at 9 a.m. Friday was 20. Cool weather with continued snow is the forecast for Friday and Saturday.

All near northern points are still reporting heavy snowfalls, six inches being recorded at Grouard and Slave Lake. Temperatures there ranged from 14 to 26 overnight. At Ft. Norman, in the far north, mercury dropped to two below zero.

LEGION HOLDS POPPY SALES ON SATURDAY

Annual Drive Is Made To Raise Funds For Needy War Veterans

Flaming red Flanders poppies will stand out in bold relief against the freshly fallen snow when the Canadian Legion on Saturday will open a barrage of this most famous flower in many sections of the city. It is the annual Legion Poppy Day, when a drive is made to raise funds for the assistance of returned men and their families who are in needy circumstances.

Returned men, [illegible] daughters, sisters and [illegible] Saturday will do [illegible] strategic points throughout [illegible] vending the blood red poppy that grows over the graves of [illegible] of soldier dead of the Great War in Northern France and Flanders.

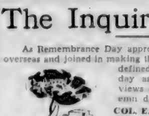
The Inquiring Reporter



As Remembrance Day approaches, the memory of those who went overseas and joined in making the great sacrifice becomes again clearly defined. The Bulletin Inquiring Reporter today asked several citizens to record their views on the significance of this annual solemn day of remembrance. Answers follow:

COL. E. BROWN, M.M., E.D., manager of Canadian Legion: I think that Armistice Day is a sacred day for all ex-servicemen. It brings back memories that cannot die and should always be cherished. It is not only a day of remembrance, however, for it is also a day of dedication. We hope that this year's observance will set a new mark for this city.

• • • •

H. A. DYDE, President of Canadian Corps: Remembrance Day is set apart in memory, and its observance is a special charge upon ex-servicemen. There is no hint or suggestion of boasting or pride. The day is too deep for any such thoughts. It is consecrated to our comrades, all of them, and the sacrifices made in devotion to a common cause.

• • • •

MRS. T. C. RYAN, housewife: Few things can be as touching as this annual ceremony, for it shows that those who made the great sacrifice have not been forgotten and cannot be forgotten. We have special need of a remembrance program today when clouds hang so darkly over the world. This year's commemoration should be attended by all who can possibly do so.

Fond Thoughts Bridge The Years As N. S. Hold Annual Dinner

They grow [illegible] old as we are left to grow old
Age shall not weary them nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them . . .

Remembrance of their many sister nurses who served in the Great War and who did not return, and of the many who served during these years at home, giving their country as great a service as those who went abroad were in the hearts and minds of members of the [illegible] Nursing Sisters' Association [illegible] one evening this week in the Macdonald hotel at their annual remembrance dinner.

WESTERN SUPERVISOR

With a thought of remembrance [illegible] for the past, Miss McCuaig [illegible] to the future of our profession. Members of the profession are today as loyal and zealous for service as any before. [illegible] which motivated [illegible] years ago." The future of the profession is a bright and happy one, she intimated.

SPICES STAY PUT

When making sweet spicy pickles, try tying the whole spices in a small cotton bag during the cooking process. Remove from the preserving kettle when just the right amount of flavor has been given off. Spices left in the preserve sometimes have a tendency to darken the syrup and [illegible] strengthen in flavor after the jars are sealed, overbalancing the natural flavor of the fruit.

Raising A Family

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Children love a chum at almost any age. In adolescence they need one more than ever.

A little shy with their parents, they seek a pal in whom to confide. They go on the principle that misery under[illegible] [illegible] exactly that [illegible] to be their own [illegible]. Many [illegible] [illegible]ed the [illegible] of her [illegible] friend. The girls go a lot [illegible] whispering she [illegible] hear. They open their hearts to each other and talk over the strange adventure called life.

O R Barton

Boys, not naturally as confidential, simply pick up a fishing rod and sit beside each other on a bank [illegible] by a beautiful silence. Each knows what the other [illegible] makes a remark entirely unrelated to what he is thinking. This is the [illegible] in them. Men have a grapevine telegraph, an intuition that women lack. [illegible]

Such companionships are exceedingly beautiful. They need not be interrupted. That is, if they are beautiful.

TRUST TO THE LIMIT

I do not suggest that you become instantly suspicious of the chum your young adolescent picks up. He may see a quality that escapes you. There is always some reason for the ties of friendship. So do your [illegible] his friend and like [illegible] [illegible], as opposites attract, this young fellow may be as unlike your son as day is from night. Or the girl your daughter is so wild about may be [illegible] perhaps a too-smoothly polished jewel.

I would not observe the chum. I would observe my child. The effect of a strong influence always shows up for good or bad. This, then, is the time to question the wisdom of the tie, if your offspring is losing by the bargain.

If you are thinking that I mean wickedness, it is not at all what I mean, although I am aware of the insidious evils that can exist, and the bad influence of an older, more worldly-wise mind on an immature and susceptible one. No. I am stressing rather the effect on happiness and character.

FOR MUTUAL PROFIT

If your Lucy is easily led and her friend Helen is a strong-willed young person, using Lucy for her own ends, dictating to her, making her feel juvenile and unimportant, even insulting her to gain her point, then I should tactfully break it up.

Lucy won't. She will be stubbornly loyal.

The same with your boy's chum. Never let another boy rob him of his own will. Try as diplomatically as you can to find a more suitable pal for John or Dick; but try not to break his heart or ruin his pride.

Naturally in most friendships, one of the two natures is stronger. If the influence of the chum is calculated to develop your child, or you know that he is developing his friend, then I should encourage such companionship. Such a tie should be of mutual benefit.

Frosted Gingerbread Sports Neat Topper

Diamonds of frosted gingerbread go high hat with luscious marshmallows.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Even a cake can get dizzy. Imagine frosted gingerbread going high hat. Rather delicious fun!

GINGERBREAD HIGH HATS

One-half cup shortening, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 beaten egg, 1 cup New Orleans molasses, 2 1-4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 cup boiling water.

Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add beaten egg and molasses and mix smooth. Alternate flour, which has been sifted with soda, salt and spices, with the boiling water. Beat until smooth. Place in greased and floured pan about 3 inches deep. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Or pour batter into well greased muffin tins and bake in 350 degrees F. oven about 20 minutes.

When cool, remove the cake from the pans and smooth the following icing on top:

BUTTER ICING

Four tablespoons butter, 1 1-2 cups confectioners' sugar, 1 1-2 teaspoons milk or cream, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar well. Add liquid and flavoring and stir until smooth. Spread on cakes. This icing requires no cooking, and is very easy to make.

DATE LIME JAM

One package pasteurized dates, 3 cups water, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 orange, 1-2 cup chopped nuts, 1-8 cup fresh lime juice.

Pit and chop dates. Add water and cook until soft. Add lime juice, peel of orange in very thin slices and sugar. Cook slowly until a jam-like consistency and orange is tender, (about 35 minutes). Add nuts just before removing from fire. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Cut the cakes from side to side so that pieces in diamond shapes will be the result. Top each piece with one marshmallow to represent a high hat. If the cake has been baked in muffin tins, frost each cake with the icing and then place a marshmallow on top.

Here's another pleasant oddity. Dates and fresh limes, nuts and orange go into one jam recipe.

SEALING AND STORING IMPORTANT

Seal dill pickles or any dilled vegetable in airtight jars. There should be no spoilage if perfectly sealed and stored in a dry, cool place.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

THE University of Washington's marriage course has attracted 20 girls to the class, but only one boy. This is significant, as it indicates the difference in the way men and women look upon marriage and the relative importance [illegible].

The ratio of twenty women who work and study to prepare themselves to be good wives to one man who even takes a kindergarten lesson to fit himself to be a good husband need astonish no one. It has ever been that way. Wives have always had to be on their jobs and put on a star performance to give satisfaction and make their husbands glad they married them; whereas men have felt that just being married to them automatically raised their wives to the seventh heaven and was all the bliss that any woman could ask.

Probably not even one young man in [illegible] thought before marriage to being a good husband. He thinks a knowledge of how to treat a wife [illegible] comes by nature, as Dogberry thought a knowledge of reading and writing did. He [illegible] leads his Angelina to the altar secure in [illegible] her maiden's prayer, and that if he feeds and clothes her, and does not beat her, he has done all that could be expected of him domestically.

It is because men have given so little study to the art and science of being desirable life companions that we have the curious paradox of good men who are mean husbands; men who think they are being kind to their wives when they are inflicting the tortures of the Inquisition upon them; men who feed their wives on caviar and starve their souls for tenderness.

Men who never stir from their own firesides, but who make their homes so disagreeable their wives wish they would step out and never come back; men who are harder taskmasters on their wives than any slave driver would be; men whose wives never see a penny of the [illegible] whose w[illegible] beloved [illegible] tombstone [illegible]

What To Do

By Phyllis Belmont

I am going to be married after Thanksgiving and would very much like your suggestions for the bridesmaid's dresses. My wedding dress will be cream lace over ivory satin. I will wear a veil. I wanted the autumn shades of brown for the bridesmaids, but several of my friends feel that brown is not becoming for another color scheme.

MISS M. [illegible]

Answer—The rich Autumn browns are lovely, but another smart and becoming color scheme for your wedding would be dull olive green in moire for the bridesmaids, and matching tiny doll-size hats tilted forward over one eye and trimmed with ostrich tips. If [illegible] foliage would be lovely for the attendants.

CALGARY, Nov. 4—In some cases last year's prices were doubled but in others the bids barely reached 50 per cent of the 1937 quotes at the sheep auction sales on the third day of the 34th annual Calgary fall livestock show Thursday.

Highest price paid was $40 for a Hampshire ewe entered by the Canadian Pacific Railway, department of natural resources, Strathmore farm. J. H. Allenby of Red Deer was the purchaser.

Shropshire and Southdown ewes sold well under the 1937 figure. Prices were $16 and $18 compared with $40 and $30 a year ago.

A 10-month-old Suffolk ewe entered by the C.P.R. Department of Natural Resources bolstered the price in its breed when C. W. Edwards paid $35 for the animal. The 1937 price was $17.

The show will conclude Friday with an auction sale of purebred Suffolk and Hampshire rams.

Ottawa Acts on Marketing and Transportation of Livestock Says Gardiner

WEST PROBLEM DISCUSSED BY 4 MINISTERS

Dominion Agricultural Chief Meets With Prairie Executives

REGINA, Nov. 4—Assurance the federal department of agriculture was already taking action in respect to the whole question of transportation and marketing of livestock was given to ministers of agriculture of the three prairie provinces Thursday by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture.

The three provincial ministers, Hon. J. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan, Hon. D. B. Mullen, Alberta, and Hon. D. L. Campbell, Manitoba, met Mr. Gardiner, urging appointment of a commission or committee of parliament to study the whole question.

PROBLEM INVESTIGATED

Mr. Gardiner advised the provincial ministers the matter had been investigated by the price spreads committee of the last parliament and that since he had become head of the department of agriculture a marketing branch had been set up within the department, one of the duties of which is to carry on a continuous investigation into marketing of farm products.

"I presume," he said, "if a change in the regulation is not sufficient and legislation is required that they will recommend legislation to be brought before the coming session of the house of commons."

Mr. Gardiner explained, however, that if such recommendations did not satisfactorily meet the situation he would not hesitate in recommending a committee of the house to investigate the matter.

Ways Discussed Provide Work For Mine Men

NORDEGG, Nov. 4.—Plans for providing some employment for men involved in the lay-off of 90 miners, effective Wednesday, at the Brazeau Collieries Limited, were discussed Wednesday between provincial and Dominion government officials and mine representatives.

A. A. Mackenzie and Murdock MacKinnon represented the provincial and federal governments respectively, while J. Shanks, general manager of the coal firm, represented mine officials.

One plan under consideration is to have married men work on the road west of Nordegg, of which 35 miles still is unfinished, while single men will be cared for by the Dominion-provincial training plan.

Remembrance Day poppies were on sale in all city schools on Friday and patriotic exercises, commemorating the Armistice, will be held next week. Definite times for the exercises have been left to the individual principals and teachers, it was stated by G. A. McKee, O.B.E., superintendent of the public schools and A. A. O'Brien, superintendent of separate schools.

EMPIRE IS NOT READY FOR WAR PROFESSOR SAYS

Munich conference showed that the British Empire was unprepared for a long conflict with the powers that threatened her, Dr. Francis Owen, Professor of Modern Languages at the University of Alberta, told a group of students assembled under the auspices of the Political Science Club and National Conference of Students Thursday evening.

He advocated an immediate and desperate rearmament program as the only measure which can save the British Empire from "disintegration speedier than that which broke down the mighty Roman Empire."

Canada has been hiding her head like an ostrich and living in a fool's paradise, the speaker declared. She has no foreign policy, he pointed out.

Canada has now come to the cross-roads and must soon decide whether she intends to continue in the Empire and carry a fair share of the load, or join in an economic union with the United States.

Farmers Benefit From Wheat Peg Visitor States

Farmers in the Peace River area would have been "in the soup" except for the pegging of the price of wheat this fall, according to A. E. Hopkins, northland farmer who was a visitor in the city this week.

"We had a dry year, and yields averaged from three to 25 bushels per acre. Most of it graded number two. The minimum price is bringing about 57 cents per bushel. Without the pegged price it wouldn't have been worth while to haul the stuff to an elevator, I guess," he explained.

Beaumont Farmer Hurt In Accident On Calgary Road

ALBERTA FUNDS WERE NOT USED IN VOTE DRIVE

Aberhart Brands As False Statement $100,000 Used In Saskatchewan

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

BOYLE, Nov. 4.—Statements by political opponents to the effect that $100,000 of Alberta funds had been used in Saskatchewan to aid the Social Credit campaign there were denied in toto by Premier Aberhart speaking at a Social Credit meeting here in support of C. H. Tade, candidate of that party in the forthcoming by-election.

"Those statements are false. Not one dollar of Alberta provincial funds went into the Saskatchewan election," he said. The premier also denied other statements regarding a $70,000 item in which speakers had said they were unable to get information regarding this item.

CAN BE CHECKED

"No such question was asked and no such answer was given in the provincial house. At no time was such a thing said and if proof of this is needed it can be checked up in the Votes and Proceedings of the house, said the premier.

Premier Aberhart also paid his respects to Mrs. Mary Bowles of Innisfail, said to be a former Social Credit organizer, but now campaigning in opposition to that party in the Athabasca by-election.

MET ONLY TWICE

"I met the woman only twice in my life," he said. "Once was about a Social Credit play she wanted to stage, when I told her she would have to discuss it with the groups. Another time was when she was going to Vancouver to see about working for Social Credit and I told her she would have to arrange that with the people out there."

As to another statement by Mrs. Bowles that she had overheard a conversation at Calgary during which Mr. Aberhart had expressed the desire to reduce the salary of a Rev. Frank Neighbor who was at the Prophetic Bible Institute, Mr. Aberhart said the minister had not been in Calgary for three years. He denied Mrs. Bowles' statement.

"Do I need to go through the constituency denying what this woman says?" the premier asked.

GOING AHEAD

Pointing out that in spite of opposition the government was going ahead with its debt reduction program the premier urged the election of Mr. Tade to assist in this task.

"What good will it be to you to put a man on the opposite side of the house to the government voting against our debt legislation, as the opposition has done right along?"

Declaring that farmers had been urged to watch mortgage agreements before signing them, the premier said the government had no intention of putting any man out of his home for taxes and had said so time and again.

SOLVE DEBT PROBLEM

"We are going on as far as we can to solve the debt problem," he said.

"Mr. Tade, elected at the 1935 general election, resigned later to give his seat to the late C. C. Ross. He should be allowed to finish out his term. In fact, the Liberals should have allowed him an acclamation," said the premier.

Dealing with the action of the dominion government in fixing the minimum wheat price at 80 cents, the premier declared the price could have been fixed at 90 cents or 87½ cents just as easily by issuing more currency.

ISSUE MORE BONDS

"But you must not be allowed to be out of debt, so they must issue more bonds so you can pay more interest to the money monopolists," he said.

Other speakers were Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary and minister of trade and industry, C. H. Tade and Rev. E. G. Hansell, M. P. for Macleod. About 250 persons attended the meeting.

Mr. Manning reviewed the situation concerning the disallowance of provincial legislation, and urged opponents be fair in telling people why the government had been unable to pay basic dividends. If legislation had not been interfered with, the dividends would have been paid, he said.

Most of Mr. Hansell's speech was devoted to the platform of C. J. Rayner Whiteley, Liberal candidate. The speaker claimed the platform dealt with planks which were of a federal nature and outside the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature.

Wage Agreements Are Discussed At Red Deer Meeting

Details of the wage agreements that can be made under the Industrial Standards Act, were discussed at a meeting of carpenters held on Thursday night at the Red Deer city hall, with H. P. Rock, of the Industrial Standards Board as speaker.

Workings of the act were discussed, as were stable wages and other details of operation of the act.

While no agreements were signed, it is expected that further conversations on the subject will take place.

TWO RETIRING CITY FATHERS DINNER HOSTS

Marking their retirement from civic office, Aldermen J. T. McCreath and A. Bisset were hosts to the mayor, city council and senior civic officials at a dinner in the Corona hotel Thursday evening. Chairman of the evening was Ald. J. H. Ogilvie.

As the oldest civic official living in Edmonton, member of the city sinking fund board and recently retired manager of the Edmonton main office of the Imperial Bank of Canada, G. R. F. Kirkpatrick addressed the gathering briefly.

He recalled the city's early days, the difficulty of obtaining a bridge over the North Saskatchewan river and his prognostication that Edmonton one day would be bigger than Calgary.

Regret that Mr. McCreath and Mr. Bisset were leaving the council was voiced by Mayor J. W. Fry and other speakers.

The season this year was 225 days, opening March 23 and closing November 3, which was nine days longer than last year when the opening was on April 7 and closing November 9.

In 1931 the receipts were $15,494, and in 1930, the first year an 18-hole course was opened, $16,850.

GERMAN BOAT BLAST PROBED AT OAKLAND

Sabotage Believed Caused Explosion—10 Canadians Listed Passengers

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 4—Police and district attorney's investigators boarded the German steamer Vancouver late Thursday to determine whether sabotage was responsible for a blast which tore a hole in the vessel and injured at least four of the crew.

District Attorney Earl Warner and a staff of investigators boarded the ship after it was moored to the side of the estuary.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGE

Police said a mysterious telephone message to the Oakland Tribune lent credence to the sabotage theory.

"Do you want some good news?" the unidentified caller asked the Tribune city editor. "A bomb just went up on a German ship."

He hung up immediately and the blast followed within a few minutes.

Summer Flying Ends On Friday For One Month

Summer flying operations of Mackenzie Air Service and Canadian Airways came to an end Friday as their last two planes were brought to Edmonton from resting points near Smoky Lake.

Rudy Heuss, who has been on the river near Smoky Lake for four days waiting for weather, got off and flew to Cooking Lake early Friday afternoon.

Pilot Al Brown of Mackenzie Air Service flew to the airport at Edmonton. Ice was forming on Smoky Lake, so his plane was pulled out of the lake, changed from pontoons to wheels and brought to the city. It is expected winter flying will be resumed within a month.

The two men have been charged with breaking and entering and theft. A truck which the men are alleged to have stolen and used to cart their loot away was found near the Macdonald hotel in Edmonton.

EDMONTON FACES HIGHER PRICES FOR BARBERING

With barbers throughout the city seriously considering an advance in prices, Edmonton citizens face the prospect of a rise in the price of haircuts from 35 to 50 cents.

Operator of one large barber shop and beauty parlor said: "Edmonton at present is about the cheapest city in Canada for haircuts. In most other places the price is 50 cents and 40 cents in the better shops. the barbers themselves, at this price, are finding it hard to make a living. We feel that the price should be increased."

Several barber shops in Calgary already have gone up to 50 cents and J. W. Burrows, president of the Alberta Barbers' Union, announced that his organization was considering ordering a general increase. Customers would find value in the extra attention and better service which barbers would be able to give, he said.

Under the Industrial Standards Act there is an agreement providing for a price of 50 cents in the best shops and 40 cents for those now charging only 25 cents, it was learned.

MURDER TO MUSIC —By NARD JONES

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBEY, heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT, hero, newspaper photographer, detective.

ANNE LESTER, Myrna's closest fiend.

DANNIE FEELEY, officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday: Tait rescues Myrna, is taking her out of her basement prison when Weeks bulks in the doorway, gun in hand.

CHAPTER XXVIII

TAIT'S first lightning thought was that Weeks must not recognize him. He could see the musician's gaunt figure plainly, framed in the doorway—but he knew that Weeks could be certain of nothing except that someone had gained entrance to Myrna's prison room.

His fingers biting deep in Myrna's shoulders, Tait pushed her toward the side of the room, and at that moment Weeks' voice roared out, "Come on . . . out here, or I'll shoot."

Almost immediately a shot crashed into the room through the open doorway, and Weeks, bewildered and blind in the darkness, followed the direction of his revolver. From the side of the room Tait rushed out. In his hands was the only weapon he had been able to discover — a chair. With all his strength he brought it down across the neck and shoulders of Weeks. Then, grasping in the dark for Myrna and finding her clutching, trembling fingers, he started for the door.

The sight of the stairway and the silence behind him were the greatest relief that Bob Tait had ever known in his lifetime. Half dragging Myrna beside him, he rushed through the dingy lobby and out into the street. The taxi was still there!

"The Claremont," Tait gasped.

He had scarcely closed the cab door behind himself and Myrna when the gears meshed and the cab roared away. They had gone the space of six or seven blocks when he realized that he was clutching Myrna tight in his arms. Embarrassed, he relinquished his nervous hold. "Are you—are you all right?"

She nodded slowly. "Yes." She managed a smile. "I'm still scared, though."

Tait laughed in sheer relief. "That was a foolhardy thing I did back there. But I didn't want Weeks to recognize me."

"Weeks?" Myrna looked at him, puzzled. "How did you know his name?"

He told her of the advertisement in the classified column of the newspaper, and of how he had listened at Harris Rogers' door. "How did he manage to kidnap you?"

"I went for a walk," Myrna said. "There was a car at the curb and this man was in it. He pretended he was ill when I went by. I went to the car and the next thing I knew I was in that horrible room. He—the man is crazy. I was afraid to move." Myrna shuddered.

"You're all right now," Bob Tait said. "When you were in that room did you ever hear Rogers?"

Myrna shook her head. "Weeks didn't have any visitors, except Leonard Macy."

"Macy! Are you sure?"

"Yes. I heard him introduce himself."

"What did they talk about?"

"I don't know. After Macy came in and introduced himself, Weeks lowered his voice and so did Macy. I couldn't hear what they were saying."

Tait frowned. "I wonder if that fake criminologist isn't mixed up in this, and trying to palm off the blame on you?"

"What do you mean, Bob?"

Tait's arm went around her shoulders again. "Forget it. You've enough to worry about. The thing I want you to do is get back to the Claremont and show yourself to Anne. She's frantic."

"I can imagine. She warned me not to leave the place alone, but I insisted and said she was foolish."

* * *

The cab stopped with a sudden jolt. Tait looked out to see the familiar outlines of the Claremont. "I won't go up with you, Myrna. I want to talk to Feeley. Listen, can you and Anne come to a little party I'm giving tonight at the Golden Bowl?"

"Party?" exclaimed Myrna. 'I don't—"

"Well, it's a sort of a party. And it's important that you come. Will you?"

"Of course, Bob. Only—" She stopped, put a hand on his arm. "You look so tired and worried, Bob. I'm afraid I've been a frightful nuisance. After all, there's no reason why you should—"

He stopped her with a look. "We've a date, then. Only I'm asking you and Anne to meet me at the Golden Bowl. I'll have to make some arrangements. Say at 9 o'clock?"

"Nine o'clock," Myrna smiled.

Not until the doors of the Claremont had closed behind Myrna did Bob Tait give the taxi driver the signal to go on. "I want to go down to police headquarters," Tait said.

"At the Claremont — where she lives," Tait said.

"Then you've just taken her there."

Tait flushed despite himself. "I'll have to admit that, Dannie. But anyhow she's there."

"But she wasn't. That's the point. Barkley's been here, Bob, and he's raising the works and putting a prop under them. He found out Myrna had flown the coop — and you left me all unbuttoned by not telling me. I didn't know it. Barkley said he's been made a fool of, and now he's going to make one out of me. It might interest you to know that he's going to spring a story in the papers tomorrow. And that means Myrna Dombey's goose is cooked." The detective regarded Tait sourly. "Where was she? On a little vacation? Did you ever happen to draw a picture of the fact that she's charged with murder?"

"She was kidnapped by George Weeks," Tait said. "I followed Weeks this afternoon—and he went to Rogers' apartment. I overheard them talking about Myrna. Weeks had her hidden at the Belvedere Hotel. I just now dropped her off at the Claremont."

Feeley's eyes widened and his ample jaw dropped slowly. "I'm giving a little party tonight," Tait went on, "and I'd like to have you come, Dannie."

"A party, is it! This mess and you're giving a party! I suppose it's in honor of Myrna going to the chair—and me losing my job!"

"I hope not, Dannie. Will you come?"

The Irishman's eyes narrowed now. "I got a hunch you mean business. Who's going to be there?"

"I'm asking Anne Lester and Myrna, Harris Rogers, Leonard Macy, Neida Starr—and yourself."

"What about your screwy musician? Surely you're going to invite him to the party?"

"Have you forgotten, Mr. Farnsworth? He's going to be featured tonight with The Swingateers!"

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

According To Culbertson

Question 15—You are East, defending against a three no trump contract. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

DUMMY
♠ A 8 2
♥ K 7 3
♦ K Q 10 9 6
♣ A Q

YOU
♠ K 4
♥ A Q 10 6 5
♣ 6 5 3 2

West, your partner, opens the spade jack and dummy plays the deuce. In a few words state your best defense, as you see it. What is your "hope?"

Answer — You should win with spade king and immediately shift to a low heart. Partner's spade jack lead located the spade queen in South's hand, hence there is no hope for additional spade tricks. Your one chance is for West to hold a diamond stopper. Upon taking it he will return a heart through dummy and you may easily be able to run four heart tricks. (For ffailure to win first trick and shift to the low heart, take 20 pts. dem. If you win first trick and return heart ten, take 8 pts. dem.)

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 23—The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North

Pass	4 spades	(final bid)

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Quite an argument arose over the bidding of this hand. It was:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	3 clubs	3 spades
4 diamonds	4 spades	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Double (final bid)

"The main argument centred around South's opening bid. I was South and contended that, in accordance with the principle of economy, the bid of one heart was correct. (This would let me bid two diamonds comfortably over a one no trump, two spade, or two club response.) I further contended that North was wrong to bid six hearts with merely three hearts to the queen when I had not rebid the suit, and that his proper rebid was to call five clubs or five diamonds. The hand was set three tricks at six hearts doubled, whereas seven diamonds or six clubs would have been a laydown.

"J. A.—Chicago."

I fully agree with both of South's contentions. The heart bid was the correct opening and North should not have bid six hearts. North's three club bid, by implication at least, announced some heart fit. Hence it would have been logical to support South's other suit, diamonds, over West's four spades. A grand slam could not safely have been reached, but certainly the partnership should have selected clubs or diamonds, rather than hearts, for the small slam contract.

Use Glowing Makeup With Black Dresses

By ALICIA HART

News of the hour is makeup to wear with black. And the girl who, although well equipped with purple and red dresses and cosmetics which harmonize with them, knows perfectly well that she'll be back to black before very long will be interested in this news.

One should, of course, appreciate the fact that black (or navy) throws the natural coloring into relief. That it must therefore stand on its own and be alive-looking with no outside help such as it might get from the lights reflected from a red or purple dress.

Once you have realized that you look either just plain dull or quite sophisticatedly glamorous whenever you wear black, you'll stop applying whatever makeup happens to be handy those mornings when you reach for a black dress instead of one of the reddish numbers you bought earlier in the season. You'll wear rouge and lipstick which make your lips and cheeks glow attractively instead of seeming dull or grayish or, worse yet, sallow. And your powder will dramatize and emphasize the natural highlights of your skin tones.

The new makeup to wear with black is divided into three groups. The first is for the fair-skinned (regardless of the shade of hair). Light rosy powder, blue-gray eyeshadow, scarlet rouge and lipstick with subtle blue under-tones are advocated.

For the dark skin, rich, dark red rouge and lipstick (also with unobtrusive blue-purple under-tones), deep rosy powder and fuchsia eyeshadow are right.

One whose skin is medium will pick rouge and lipstick in a shade of red which is a happy medium between the tones for the light and dark complexioned. Powder will be light rosy beige, eyeshadow blue-green.

And there's an added advantage in selecting Saturday—the linoleum you buy will be laid and cemented (by expert linoleum layers) without extra charge in homes within the city limits.
